ANOTHER TYPHOON

TRAVELLING THIS WAY

BUT ABOUT 1,000 MILES OFF

Another typhoon may be threatening the China coast in the vicinity of Hongkong within the next few days.

At the moment the disturbance is out in the Pacific some distance east of central Luzon, its position being about Lat. 16 N. Long. 130 E. It is travelling W.N.W. in the general direction of Hongkong, although it is about a thousand miles away this morning.

With the continued fall of rain the water situation has further improved on the island. A total fall of 49 million gallons has been recorded during the 24 hours ending this morning, bringing the aggregate storage to 1,785 million gallons. The total capacity of the island reservoirs is 2,387 million gallons.

It is not expected that there will be any alteration in the existing restrictions for at least another week even if the rain continues to fall.

All reservoirs are full to capacity on the mainland.

AUSTRALIAN CATCHES TARTAR

"SLUGS" JACK DEMPSEY

San Francisco, Sept. 14. The Australian boxer, Grimes, when ordered to cease wrestling during a boxing match at San Bernardino, "slugged" the referee, but caught a Tartar.

The referee happened to be Jack Dempsey, who promptly knocked out Grimes.

COAL MINERS ON STRIKE

PRICE CONFLICT

WASHINGTON, SEPT. 13.

AMERICA'S BULLISH CONFIDENCE IN THE TRIUMPH OF THE ROOSEVELT RECOVERY PROGRAMME HAS RECEIVED A SERIES OF SHOCKS, AND THE FEELING THAT THE SITUATION REQUIRES A THOROUGH OVERHAUL IS NOT CONFINED TO FOREIGN CORRESPONDENTS.

President Roosevelt is now reported to be very dissatisfied with the slow rate of the increase in employment since the beginning of his recovery drive, and he also feels that farm prices are lagging too far behind the rise in general prices.

He wants a further increase in farm prices by at least sixty per cent.

Inflation on a large scale is thought in some quarters to be imminent, but those closer to the President believe that he is still determined to keep direct inflation as a last resort.

EVEN GOOD SIGNS SUSPECT

It is stated in the highest quarters that the President is putting the full weight of the government behind the banks, which he expects in return, to extend to small merchants the credit necessary to enable them to carry on until they can cover the increased costs imposed by the codes by increased sales.

Even signs of recovery hitherto regarded as favourable are now suspect. It is stated, for instance, that the freer public buying indicated in the official returns of sales by the department stores is not reflective of increased purchasing power but is largely attributed to a fear of higher prices in the future.

REPERCUSSIONS.

Repercussions of the apparent slowing-up of the effects of the recovery drive are being observed in various quarters.

They include the resignation from the Presidency of the American Iron and Steel Institute of Mr. R. P. Lamont, who declares that the practical immediate demands facing industry can best be met by men familiar with vast details.

Mr. Ickes, the Secretary of the Interior, has ordered an investigation into reports from various areas of a petrol price war.

The Administration has issued a warning that it is ready to fix oil prices immediately unless the industry keeps its house in order.

COAL STRIKE.

It is learned from Pricedale that following the decision of the Pennsylvania coal-miners to go on strike until the coal code has been signed by the employers, twenty thousand men have already downed tools.—Reuter.

Meanwhile, there are reports that the Administration may have a "bankers' rebellion" on its hands before the end of the year because of the new law requiring banks to guarantee deposits.

Bankers in all parts of the country are protesting against the law in view of the fact that President Roosevelt has asked the banks to extend liberal credit to industry in order that all manufacturers may join fully in the industrial recovery programme.

The bankers say they would be glad to extend such credit were it not for the new Glass-Steagall law requiring a gigantic insurance fund to guarantee depositors against loss.

Prominent bankers in New York point out that if the industrial programme is a success, deposits will naturally need no insurance.

banks will be the ones to suffer.

FIRST OPEN PROTEST.

They contend that liberal credit such as is envisioned by the Administration and credit extended on sound banking principles are two different things.

The first open protest came from Chicago banks which are members of the clearing house association there.

They adopted a resolution urging the Government to postpone the enforcement of the deposit guarantee law until the condition of the country and of its banks, shows greater improvement.

The resolution which met an immediate response throughout the country declared that the law was radical and tantamount to penalising good banking in order to make good the losses caused by bad management.

POSTPONEMENT SOUGHT.

Unless this insurance plan is postponed thousands of banks will be compelled to close when the law becomes effective in January, according to the resolution.

Other banks have had representatives in Washington seeking a postponement.

The general contention is which banks that are loosely managed should not be permitted to operate and those following good banking procedure should not be compelled to provide an immense insurance fund to protect depositors.

The Government has been very firm with regard to the deposit question. It is learned that the Treasury Department considers the proposal to postpone the application of the law and report to the President.

THE ST. LEGER

BLACK DAY FOR BOOKMAKERS

London, Sept. 13.

A real Yorkshire roar from three hundred thousand throats greeted the victory of Earl Derby's Hyperion in the St. Leger.

The Derby winner was a red-hot favourite and the win was highly popular also because Lord Derby has always been one of the staunchest supporters of the Turf.

It was Lord Derby's fifth win in the St. Leger and it was a very black day for the bookmakers.

Hyperion became the twenty-fourth horse to win both the Derby and the St. Leger, and he emulated the feat of his sire, Gainsborough.

The Aga Khan's St. Leger luck held. Felicitation being a worthy second, beating Lord Durham's Scarlet Tiger, the stable companion of the winner, when it seemed likely to be runner-up.—Reuter.

DISARMAMENT DOUBTS

AN ANGLO-FRENCH CONFERENCE

London, Sept. 14.

The Prime Minister, who is at Scotland, is expected to return to London on Sunday evening.

On Monday morning he will be visited by Mr. Norman Davis, the United States delegate to the Disarmament Conference.

During his visit to London at the week-end he will also discuss certain questions connected with the work of the Disarmament Conference with Mr. Arthur Henderson, the President of the Conference.

Mr. Norman Davis will leave London for Paris next week and will probably participate in the later stages of the Anglo-French disarmament conversations there.

The British Government will be represented at these conversations, which will begin on Monday, by the Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, Captain Anthony Eden, who, accompanied by Mr. Alexander Cadogan, Minister-Designate to China, is expected to leave London on Sunday.

UNDERSTANDING NEEDED.

The need for a clear understanding between the two countries on certain aspects of disarmament before the meetings are resumed at Geneva is fully recognised in London and it is anticipated that in next week's conversations the question of the international control of armaments will receive particular attention.

Full details of the French proposals for effecting such control are not yet known and the talks will to a large extent be exploratory.

At their conclusion, Captain Eden will probably return to London to report before proceeding to Geneva where the League Council will meet on September 22nd.—British Wireless.

FRENCH DEMAND GUARANTEES

French manœuvring in the disarmament question is watched here with some resentment. It is pointed out in political circles that while the French Premier, M. Daladier, in his last foreign-political speech in the Chamber immediately before the summer vacation, had defined the French security requirements as a demand for a strong and effective central control of armaments.

France, now that Great Britain and the United States have reported that they are in principle in favour of disarmament, suddenly find the urgent need for some additional guarantees, demanding that the

NEW DUTCH TARIFFS

SEQUEL TO TRUCE TERMINATION

ALL-EMBRACING DUTIES

The Hague, Sept. 13.

New import duties of five per cent. on manufactured goods and twelve per cent. upon luxury articles, have been authorised by the Low House, together with a further turnover tax on the manufacture category of goods and ten per cent. on the second category.

It is estimated that the new taxes will yield about 85,000,000 guilders annually.

Raw materials and some food-stuffs are not affected by the new taxes.

It will be recalled that Holland recently announced its denunciation of the tariff truce, in consequence of the failure of the World Economic Conference to achieve useful results.

Holland has hitherto been noted for one of the lowest tariff walls in Europe, with the result that surpluses have tended to gravitate in her direction.—Reuter.

UNEMPLOYMENT IN GERMANY

INDICATIONS OF REVIVAL

There was a welcome decline in the number of unemployed in Germany during the second half of August, no less than 207,000 persons being absorbed into employment between August 15 and the end of the month.

In view of the improvement of the figures in England, where half a million unemployed have gone back to work since the beginning of the year, hopes are expressed that the world has turned the corner and that the worst of the slump is over.

Germany, however, has still a vast army of workless, there being 4,128,000 registered unemployed at the end of August.—Reuter.

establishment of a control of armaments be preceded by some special arrangements.

A FRENCH VIEW.

The French journalist, Jacques Bardoux, sponsor of the Association Française de la Sarre in his publication Le Capital takes issue with the Saar question. He maintains that the Austrian, and the Saar problems are interrelated and that the independence of Austria as well as the continuation of the status quo of the Saar region, even if it should be accomplished contrary to the stipulations of the Treaty of Versailles, would mean a serious blow to the French position in the Rhine valley and the region of the Saar. Bardoux goes on to say that the French Government should be prepared to make a concession in the Saar region in order to secure the independence of Austria.

EUROPEAN FLOGGED

ADMIRAL EVANS OPENS INQUIRY

NATIVE CHIEF SUSPENDED

Capetown, Sept. 14.

Vice-Admiral E.R.G.R. Evans has arrived in the heart of the Bamangwato Reserve in Bechuanaland, with his escort of Marines, and has set up a Court of Inquiry into recent events at Palapye Roads, near the railway.

The European who was flogged was a man named Macintosh, who was living within the native reserve.

Tshekedi, the chief of the Bamangwato Tribe is alleged to have been mainly responsible for the flogging, which was ordered by a native court.

ALLEGATIONS BY CHIEF.

Allegations and representations by Tshekedi as regards Macintosh's character were ignored by the Court set up by Admiral Evans, but after hearing the evidence of Macintosh, it was intimated that he would be prohibited from living in the native reserve.

In the meantime, Tshekedi has been temporarily suspended from the chieftainship of the Bamangwato and is virtually under open arrest.

Tshekedi emphasised in addressing the court, his loyalty to the King.

Admiral Evans is the acting High Commissioner for Bechuanaland Protectorate.—Reuter.

Dutch East Indies Ordinance

Amsterdam, Sept. 14.

The Dutch East Indies Council severely criticises the Ordinance empowering the Government to restrict the exports of any article, as rendering possible the introduction of restrictions on rubber exports with consultation with the People's Council.

A fear is generally felt in the European markets that the Ordinance is anticipatory, so that the Government will be in a position to impose restriction immediately an agreement is reached with Britain as regards the control of supplies.—Reuter.

THE WORLD OF WOMEN

BIZARRE NOVELTIES GIVE WAY TO COSTUMES OF GOOD TASTE

Wear white for yachting or the beach, whether you choose skirts or pyjamas, says Jean Patou. Both of these costumes are made of white linage. The sweater with the skirt has a round yoke, belt section and tiny cuffs of white. The jacket sweater with the trousers buttons up the front and takes a red tie to give it a tri-colour appeal. The novel little berets are of navy tricot, too.

FASHION NOTES

(From a Paris Correspondent)

Feathers, which were fashionable in pre-war days, are returning to favour again.

Any woman who has had cherished bird-of-paradise plumes and ospreys in the bottoms of trunks for many years, may now bring them out and count themselves lucky not to have thrown them away, for such feathers are fetching high prices, and are used by every important milliner this season.

A favourite hat-trimming is the stiff quill clipped into triangular shapes and laid one over the other, to make neat toques; indeed, the feather toque is a mode which is already firmly established. It may be of such downy plumes that it looks like velvet, or, again, each separate feather may be clearly visible.

Another trimming, but an expensive one, is the aigrette set straight against a crown, generally in the front, or in the middle of the back. Bird-of-paradise tails are seen placed stiffly on either side of a simple, close-fitting toque. The peacock feather is also to the fore where hat-trimmings are concerned.

Lacquered feathers clearly prove the increasing vogue of waxed fabrics in millinery. Some are so heavily lacquered they appear almost like straw, and, when used with such a material, blend into it, until only upon close observation can one distinguish straw from feathers.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By Alicia Hart.

There is something new under the sun! It's a makeup for your eyelashes and eyebrows!

It's a big mistake to try to change the colour of your lashes and brows. In doing so, you defeat the true purpose of cosmetics. Cosmetics are to enhance the beauty that is already there. Completely change the colour of your eyelashes and eyebrows and you throw them out of the line of harmony which causes them to blend with your complexion and hair.

There is a new cosmetic (it's liquid and has a bluish transparency) which is to be used on both eyelashes and brows. You apply it with the little dropper which comes in the bottle and then brush your eyelids upward with the same kind of a brush ordinarily sold with mascara.

It does not change the natural shade. It only darkens it. It is not creamy and will not rub off, nor wash off. You have to use cleansing cream to remove it.

In other words, it is a dye. The same colour is suitable for every complexion.

If a blonde, with light skin and hair, uses dark brown mascara and eyebrow pencil, she makes herself look unnatural. With the new transparent dye, she retains her blonde type, but, at the same time,

Paris.—Any trace even of eccentricity fortunately seems banished from the creation of beach clothes. Ever since its inception, there has been in this category of woman's dress a continual novelty and something akin to a renaissance of the mode. Strictly speaking, changes here were all too frequent and bordering on the incoherent.

The fact of the matter is that women were motivated, as always in the matter of dress, by their desire for novelty and this desire, for a long time, was accompanied by a certain amount of indecision. Hand in hand with this indecision and paradoxical as it may sound, was combined the usual feminine assurance which produced some startling innovations, often bordering on bad taste.

A Vogue That Was Carried Too Far

It would be unjust to make any reproach to couturiers on that score. Beach dresses and ensembles undoubtedly constitute a category of dress which has most evolved during the last few years. As with all evolutions, however, there invariably comes a period, tantamount to revolution, therefore somewhat disorderly, and producing exaggerations which always occur when anything relatively new appears.

At the outset, the great novelty resided in the fact of wearing special things for the beach. Until then women had been content with clothes which of all their wardrobe represented the coolest, gayest and most practical wear; in short, dresses best suited to the beach.

Then the desire for greater ease and comfort determined the sudden vogue for beach pyjamas and an excessive fantasy was immediately registered in this realm. Purely and simply a fantasy in itself, the pyjama did not need to be fashioned of crepe, chiffon or any other extravagant medium to be original. It carried sufficient resources within itself to escape banality, without having to be eccentric also.

Fantasy At Best When Restrained

I believe that beach styles have now acquired a sort of discipline which groups all garments belonging to this category under the sign of quiet elegance and good taste. Exaggerated fantasy is to-day rigorously barred, but discreet original touches are not only permitted, but most effective.

The best theme on which to build beach clothes is to start on a simple idea and then create an ensemble where each garment offers an unexpected note of fantasy, without having to resort either to excessive volume or bizarre cut.

For the LOVE of EVE by Lucy Walling

CHAPTER XXI

Eve ignored Mona Allen for the rest of that day. She was so annoyed by the other girl's trickery that she felt she could not trust herself to speak to Mona. Fortunately Eve had no work to discuss with her.

Mona entered Barnes' office the middle of the afternoon and did not reappear for almost an hour. Arlene, glancing up from her typewriter during Mona's absence, said, "I wonder what Lorelei's game is. She certainly makes occasions to be alone with his highness!"

Eve said, "Don't be foolish, Arlene."

Arlene answered flippantly, "Don't be so glib, Eve! That girl is no saint."

Mary, from her corner by the window, merely looked up at them and smiled. What Mary thought, no one knew.

When Mona returned to her desk she did not glance at either of the other girls. Her features were without expression as she folded a few sheets of fresh copy paper, picked up a pencil and left the office.

"She's probably gone to see George Bliss on the pretence of asking what's new in the rag department," commented Arlene. "Well, I've got plenty of work to do myself and I must say I can do it a lot better when Mona is far, far away." Arlene began to type rapidly.

Eve was tempted to tell Dick about the luncheon with Theron Reece and explain how it had come about but she decided that to do so would be to attach importance to the incident. It did not occur to her to discuss her venture on the stock market with Dick. In that matter she wished to play a lone hand until she had achieved results.

Hence she encouraged him to talk about his work.

"I'll take you out to see the theatre Sunday morning," he told her. "It's going to be ready for the public in two weeks. Just now the auditorium is being decorated and equipment installed. There will be quite a staff working Sunday because of the time limit for the opening."

On Sunday morning, as he had promised, Dick tucked Eve into the roadster and drove the short distance to the new building. The white brick and terra cotta structure loomed up, 17 storeys high. They entered the lobby where workmen were laying rich, heavy carpeting over thick padding. Here the walls were panelled in gold satin brocade and a gold chandelier with hundreds of intricately cut crystals lighted the scene.

They passed through the auditorium where the seats were being installed. The silver screen was already in place. Dick took Eve up in the dressing room elevator and she saw modern conveniences in almost luxurious form for the comfort of the actors and actresses. She was particularly impressed with the laundry and drying room and the nursery for the children of the stage-folk. Eve looked down at the stage from the fly-loft and became slightly dizzy.

"Now I'll show you the 'green room,'" Dick told her as they stepped into the elevator again. They descended to a room opposite the wings, beautifully decorated in white and gold. In the centre was a billiard table, and great, soft easy chairs were grouped about. "No matter what its colour scheme may be this room is called the green room," Dick explained. "It is the actors' sitting room. Later on you will see it in use."

An organ had been installed and was being tested. Snatches of melodies filled the air. Dick glanced about and saw no one else serving them. He gathered Eve close in the shadow of the wings, for a brief instant.

"The first kiss on the new stage," he murmured.

Eve was always to remember that Sunday. It gave her her first insight into the romance of building. Dick's employers, she knew, specialized in the construction of theatres but it was not until that morning that she appreciated the extreme skill required for this branch of work. The owners had spared no expense to create beauty as well as utility and the result was breath-taking in effect.

The day meant more than that to Eve. The uneasy feeling she had known for the past week seemed to slip away from her. Dick was all kindness and consideration and Eve was ashamed of the fact that she had doubted him, even for a moment. She resolved to make this up to him in the future. Dick's love was suddenly the most important thing in the world for her and she wanted him to know it.

She curled up in a lounge chair that afternoon with a new book. She made it a point to bring home a book from the circulating library each week-end. After she finished reading the book Eve always entered its title and the name of its author in a tiny notebook she carried in her purse. She had begun this system when she was in high school and had followed it faithfully ever since.

Monday morning Eve returned to her work as though inspired. She thought of the actresses soon to come to Lake City for the opening of the theatre and decided to make an especial bid for their patronage in the store advertising she wrote. Barnes commended her for her foresight.

That noon Eve accompanied Mary to a Scottish tearoom where a twinkling-eyed Highland lassie told their fortunes by reading the leaves in their teacups. Eve attached no significance to the prophecies made for her but Mary was apparently overjoyed because the seeress predicted she would soon be married. Eve smiled to herself. It would not take a fortune teller to predict marriage for a girl so sweet and lovely as Mary.

When the home edition of the evening newspaper was delivered to the office Eve turned to the financial pages. Strange, she thought, how light-hearted she had been but an hour before and now her world was plunged into gloom. Pure Soap, Inc., had gone down a point.

It was hard for her to concentrate on her work for the next hour. As soon as the stock edition was due she sent Charles down to the corner to purchase a copy for her. Her hopes returned as she noted that Pure Soap, Inc., had regained its loss and closed at the same figure it had been maintaining for a week.

The next day, however, there was much trading in Pure Soap, Inc., and it gained three points. Eve's hopes soared. She walked about the office as though entranced and then worked as one possessed with inspiration.

"Why the effervescence?" asked Arlene.

Eve merely smiled and did not answer.

Dick was glad to find her so cheerful that evening. He wondered at her joyousness but inasmuch as she had nothing in particular to relate he attributed the mood to good health and youthful spirits.

The next day Pure Soap, Inc., gained two points. It seemed to Eve that this was too good to be true.

Thursday the stock gained three more after a day of brisk trading. It fluctuated a bit then and closed Friday exactly 10 points above the price at which Eve had made her initial investment.

Ten points! Eve figured her gain. Oh, this was fun, she thought. At that rate she could make money—loads of it! No wonder there was so much excitement about the stock market. Sell? Indeed no, Eve told herself. Not when Pure Soap, Inc., was advancing at that rate. She would hold out until it had advanced five more points.

U.S. INFLATION

New York, Sept. 13.
 An urgent plea for "national inflation" has been received by President Roosevelt from Senator Pat Harrison, Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

Senator Harrison said: "Commodity prices must rise. I am in favour of some form of rational inflation. We have got to do more than we are doing. This will help both the bankers and the farmers. The latter are the ones who really need help now."

Senator Harrison's suggestion to the President is believed to be significant in view of the recent release of business activity and commodity prices.

Meanwhile the critical state of President Roosevelt's "Prosperity Drive" is indicated by the poor response to General Johnson's strenuous "Buy Now" campaign.

The increase in wage levels has been insufficient to offset the rise in prices and farmers are complaining that the return for their products is lagging far behind the cost of manufactured goods.

Many observers think that President Roosevelt will be forced into outright inflation in order to pump purchasing power into the public purse.—Reuter.

GOLD REGULATIONS.

First Step To Allow Open Trading.

Washington, Sept. 13.
 The Gold Regulations have been further modified. Permission is now granted to licensed manufacturers to buy scrap gold, such as trinkets, jewellery and teeth fillings, which could previously be sold only to the mints.—Reuter.

The embargo on the export of gold was recently lifted by President Roosevelt in order to allow producers to take advantage of the prevailing high prices on the world market.

WHEAT DISPOSAL.

To Prevent Dumping On World Market.

Washington, Sept. 13.
 Tentative plans for the disposal of over 30,000,000 bushels of wheat stored along the north-west Pacific coast are announced by the Farm Adjustment Board.

Export Associations will play a big part in the disposal. It is estimated that China will take 15,000,000 bushels; Japan 12,000,000; Ireland a possible 6,000,000.

It is expected that the Secretary of Agriculture, Mr. Wallace, will approve of the plan.

The vast store of wheat has been a constant threat to prices. The Government is reimbursing holders to the extent of from 15 to 20 cents per bushel to make up for the anticipated loss.

The Pacific Northwest denotes the states of Washington and Oregon beyond the Rockies, the store-house of so-called white wheat, heavy stocks of which have long threatened price levels on the inland market.

The proposals are tantamount to a Government subsidy of 15 to 20 cents a bushel to enable holders to export at current world prices.—Reuter.

GROWING UNREST.

Roosevelt Facing Many Enemies.

London, Sept. 13.
 The Washington correspondent of The London Times, whose comments hitherto have been most sympathetic to the American National Recovery Administration, refers to-day to the covert opposition of big business to the United States President's plans and the growing enmity between labour and wealth.

The correspondent sees, too, a spreading of the resentment among urban and rural consumers, as increased costs of production are offset by high retail prices and continued weakness in the banking structure.

The newspaper adds that up to now the National Recovery Administration has not brought back prosperity to the United States. There have been some increases in wages, a shortening of working hours and the hope has arisen that "sweetshop" wages will be abolished, together with the grosser iniquities of child labour. But what is needed infinitely more before the winter, is the recognition of the necessity of liberal supplies of fixed capital.

No-one, however, pretends to know where capital is obtainable under the present law, under which promoters are liable to prosecution of intervention, unless it is supplied by the Government.

TRUNK MURDER

PATRICIO REMEDIOS ADMITS GUILT

Macao, Sept. 13.
 Patricio Remedios, charged in connexion with the Shanghai Trunk Murder, declared in Court to-day that he had killed Choy Ling in a fit of jealousy, because of her friendly relations with other men.

To-day's hearing was in camera and not part of the actual trial, which will be open to the public and will commence at the earliest possible date.

A remarkable revelation at to-day's hearing was that neither Patricio nor his brother Jose, who is also charged, speak a word of Portuguese. Both speak English and Japanese.

Judge Raposo will preside at the trial. The Attorney General, Senhor Alves Ferreira, is drawing up the case for the prosecution and Mr. F. X. A. Silva, well known in Hongkong for his legal circle, has been appointed lawyer for the defence.

Patricio is extremely nervous and has been continually twitching.

PROCEEDS OF LOAN.

PROVINCES APPEALING FOR SHARES

Nanking, Sept. 13.
 Following the appeal from the Kowloon Provincial Government for $5,000,000 of the proceeds of the American wheat and cotton loan to China, further telegrams have been received here from the provincial administrations claiming a share of the money for various projects.

Telegrams from the north-western provinces suggest that $100,000 of the loan be apportioned for the completion of the Lunghai Railway in order to link these provinces with central China.—Reuter.

and he is unwilling to be interviewed. His brother Jose is much calmer, and states he is ignorant of the whole matter. When the brother arrived in the Colony yesterday afternoon, they were met by the chief of the Police Department and taken to the Police Station.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

YESTERDAY'S MARKET STEADY

According to Messrs. Swan, Culbertson and Fritz, the New York market was steady yesterday. Business done 730,000 shares. The Wall Street Journal report on yesterday's Street market:

The market was steady and firm with weak U.S. Dollar offsetting adverse steel news especially "Iron Age Magazine's" report that the steel industry is operating at 41% of capacity. Yesterday's repeal victories apparently had no effect on the market. "Iron Age Magazine" cable steel production is reported at 41% of capacity due to difficulties of code adjustment and also diminution of consumption. Buying from railroads remains low. Our New York Office cable (This morning). Stocks: Pending favorable news and developments dullness and irregularly are likely to continue but renewed upturn seems near. Wheat: The market advanced sharply on strong Eastern buying. Buying was started on the Government subsidizing Pacific Coast sales of wheat to the Orient. News favours constructive position. Cotton: The Government's weekly crop report is favourable with the exception of further mention of weevil activity. The market is steady at advance on continued activity of Worth Street in coarse yarn cloths and temporary lull in hedge selling. Our New York Office cable (Last Night). Stocks: The market is displaying a good tone but may develop temporary irregularity. Maintenance of long positions, however, is justified. Wheat: Cables strong falling to follow our decline. News bullish. The market lacks trade buying and leadership. Advice buying on declines. Cotton: As most bullish opinions predicted on inflation attention is concentrated upon Washington where apparently no action is contemplated pending the outcome of the National Recovery Act. The market was quiet and steady at the opening.

MONETARY POLICY

In the debate as to whether or not the value of currency can be kept stable by government regulation, the example of Sweden has been cited by both sides.
The managed money advocates have pointed to Sweden's success in keeping domestic prices fairly level while those in other countries have been falling, with discouraging effect on employment and business activity. Now the opposing school has analysed the Swedish statistics and come to the conclusion that far from having solved its economic troubles through the management of its currency, the country feels the depression like everyone else. As is often the case, the truth lies somewhere between these two extremes.
When Sweden was forced to abandon the gold standard at the end of September, 1931, chiefly by the British example, the first concern of the authorities was to assure the Swedish public that the value of its money would not disappear as it had in Germany and other European countries a decade before. They engaged, so far as lay in their power, to maintain the internal purchasing power of the krona. In other words, their first purpose was to allay fear. In that respect they were successful. The cost of living did not go up. In July this year the index number was 153, with the prices of July, 1914, taken as 100. When the country went off gold, the retail price index was 158. The trouble was more the other way.
When the first anxiety had been relieved, it was found that while on the gold standard Sweden, like its neighbours, allowed prices to slip too far,
and in May, 1932, a policy was adopted that would tend to raise wholesale prices moderately, while keeping the cost of living as nearly stable as possible.
But in spite of these efforts the wholesale price index, which had gone up from 107 in September, 1931, to 110 a year later, sank back to 105 last March, following the world trend. Since last May it has been rising again. Sweden's present policy is still to effect a moderate rise in the domestic level of wholesale prices, whether in conjunction with other countries or independently, but its cardinal aim is to keep the cost of living within the country as even as possible. While it is true that so far the success of its financial policy in keeping prices steady has not saved the country from all the ills of the world-wide depression, it has protected it from some of the effects felt elsewhere.

NOTES OF THE DAY

WATER SUPPLY

The downpour which ended the local drought has relieved official minds of any anxiety about a possible water famine in the Spring without being sufficient to lessen the inconvenience to island consumers by way of a relaxation of restrictions. Some there are who will grumble; at the same time appreciating the Government's attitude. The phenomenally dry August, carried well into September, provided a scare from which recovery is not easy, and if the present policy is interpreted as one of excessive caution, it must also be regarded as only natural in the circumstances.
Figures could be quoted by the yard, perhaps, to illustrate that, at the present rate of consumption, the water in storage should be adequate to meet requirements for nine months or even longer and that an extension of hours of supply might well be risked. For the moment, however, patience with safety first will do no harm and Hongkong residents may console themselves with the thought that, at least, they have escaped the unpleasantness of a three-hour limit by Christmas, a prospect which was rather more definite than a possibility until the rains of this week. The wetter during the remainder of September will be the final arbiter of the island's fate for the rest of the winter. Three or four inches of steady rain will ease both minds and restrictions.

CRICKET RECORDS

Cricket achievements are curious things. Freeman, the little man of Kent, who trundles out batting giants with astonishing regularity, seems likely to top the three hundred wickets mark for the second time in his career, for it is impossible that he should be left out of the final match of the season, the Champions versus the Rest. Yet his appearances for England have been rare and when he has turned out, has seldom been given the chance to distinguish himself. He went to Australia a few years ago, but did not bowl a single ball in a Test match. Much the same sort of comment might have been made about Ames, until recently. He beat all wicket-keeping records for three years in succession, but found Duckworth displacing him for England. He obtains his place consistently to-day because of his batting prowess, not because of his qualities as a stumper. The explanation is, of course, partly to be discovered in Kent's barrenness in attack. If Freeman does not get the wickets, they are not obtained, and his understanding with Ames is perfect. Between them they have rescued Kent from many a predicament.

That journal of many parts,
The Rock, has entered into the discussion on local social problems, taking up the issue, more or less at the point at which we recently left off, and contributing one or two useful suggestions.
We doubt, however, if the mere dissemination of information, valuable as it may be, is likely to rouse public and government to necessary action. We are, perhaps more cynical in our view of Hongkong mental processes, taken in the mass, than the contributors to The Rock may permit themselves to be. Also, it would seem, our use of the term "agitation" conveyed an idea to which they could not subscribe.
The substitution of active institution would probably represent more accurately our own policy and at the same time widen the door for supporters.

SOCIAL PROBLEMS

We do not like talesse faire and never did, neither in government nor in economics, nor yet in problems connected with social betterment. This Colony should set an example not acquiesce in the evils of acute poverty with the excuse that similar or worse conditions are to be found in Swallow, Canton and other places and that the sufferers are accustomed to their mode of existence. Such considerations do not ease the minds of those who see (not merely look at) the hardships round about, coupled with the appalling way of life thrust upon thousands in our slums partly through government's failure to insist upon observance of the Health and Building Ordinance.
We admit that the problem is not likely to be solved by rigid application of the regulations. But if owners of property cannot be compelled to content themselves with a fair return and the "principal tenant" sub-division scandal cannot be overcome by any other means, there is an alternative, that of the provision of tenements where economic stress demands the tenement type of building.

GERMANY'S AIR PANIC

By MARGARET SETON WAGNER

So thorough are the measures that Berlin is now taking against aerial attack that they include the removal from the city's attics and lofts of all inflammable material; even old bedsteads are being taken away.

RED handbills have been posted up overnight on the doors of the big block of flats that make up an ordinary Berlin street with the stamps of the local police-court upon them. Streets where these handbills have not yet appeared are merely a sign that the police force on that particular beat is somewhat slower than in the neighbouring district.

For Berlin, like every other German city, has now been divided up into units corresponding to local police jurisdiction to provide for safety, not from ordinary menaces to public peace, but to danger from the air.

The handbills are printed in the form of a manifesto.

ORGANISING THE POPULATION

Citizens are called upon to do their national duty and help support the efforts made to safeguard them by subscribing whatever amount they can afford to the National Air Protection Society.
They are reminded that soon members of every household will be made aware of their individual responsibilities to themselves and their fellow men.

In some cases the names of halls are given where meetings will be held at which instruction in these responsibilities can be gathered.
In others the organisation is not yet so complete. But the German citizen will be required as a national duty to attend at least one such meeting and gather whatever instruction he or she may be able to obtain.

This instruction will confine itself in the main to describing the correct behaviour before, during and after a raid of any kind from the air. Although the eventuality of poison-gas is the pivotal point, the dangers from bombs will also be enlarged upon.

EVERY FAMILY TRAINED

But the population as a whole will be divided up into passive citizens and active safeguarders of their interests.

One member of every family will learn the use of a gas-mask and know what to do when the moment comes.

The others will at least know how to obey order. It has not yet been stated which members of the family will be chosen in the case of there being no adult male in the home.

That the tremendous zeal and the deadly seriousness underlying the present propaganda point to an enlightening of the civilian population without any subsidy from public funds on an undreamed-of scale.

This action is only temporary.
All teachers in German schools are now receiving special instruction in dangers from the air which they will impart to their pupils, so that the younger generation, it is presumed, will know how to take care of itself.

"You probably won't like my wife but she's darn good."

The Very Idea!

PALMY DAYS

By Eddie "Canter" Kelly

EVERY day in every way our Adam's apple moves up and down more rapidly over sport.

It is computed that if all the space set aside in newspapers regarding cricket scores, gush, and lawn bowls was set aside it would make a good packing area.

Is all this excitement over mere games justified? Hyperion wins the Derby and St. Leger and what does it do? Ill feeling is bred between book-makers and punters, jockeys of losing horses feel discontented with their lot, and everyone's sore at everyone else.

Oh, yes, we know a lot about horse racing. Our old man used to follow horses once, and we don't mean he had the kind of job you're thinking of.

A punter, for instance, is not a man who drives a punt. He's a bettor, though he's no better than anybody else, unless it's a book-maker.

Even then he's not equal to most bookmakers, who, by the way, don't make books. Under English laws they'd get booked if they did. That is, if they make illegal slips. Most of the punters make the slips.

But to get back to the bookmakers, that's what we all like to do after the race, the chosen race, we mean.

There are other kinds of races, too—wait-for-age races, where the griffins we back wait for the old ones; maiden races for fillies only.
You watch the races from the stands. Stands are provided for the people to stand on. Fielders stand in front of the stands, so they can get a good start if the favourite happens to win.

Fielders is a term borrowed from cricket because they make catches, only they catch the balls.

Then there's the urger. He is either a retired jockey, a trainer's grandfather, or his uncle's friend's next-door-neighbour's milkman used to deliver to Hyperion's groom's niece. You can always tell an urger, but he's more likely to tell you.

Taking it all in all, horse racing is a poor sport except for a rich man.

"CAVALCADE"

We were one of the distinguished gathering who attended the gala premiere of "Cavalcade" last night.

As we entered the front portals of the King's Theatre cameras clicked, flashlights flashed and people stood at attention.

We bowed, smiled, threw our tooth-pick away and followed His Excellency the Governor inside.

By pretending that we were an
A.D.C. we were able to successfully negotiate the door-keeper.

It was the most magnificent spectacle we have ever seen. We went out and celebrated the relief of Mafeking by drinking some free beer in the King's Restaurant.

We also celebrated the ascension of King Edward to the throne, drowned our sorrows at the sinking of the Titanic, got thirsty at the sight of Herbert Mundin's pub, celebrated the Armistice and drank a few more for good measures.

What's the use of them putting on free beer if you don't drink it.
We forgot what happened afterwards. But it was a fine picture.

LET'S SPONSOR

Someone suggested the other day that ZBW should broadcast sponsored programmes, similar to those transmitted by the Manila station. Moderation, of course, would have to be utilised in advertising.

Something like this, for instance:

"FRIENDS of the radio audience: The Aunt Sally Superior Horseradish Company, sponsoring this programme for your enjoyment, does not believe that radio listeners want their concerts interrupted by long advertising announcements. Therefore, the makers of Aunt Sally Superior Horseradish will not delay this programme more than a few moments. They appreciate the fact that you are more interested in the next number than in the excellent qualities of Aunt Sally Superior Horseradish. And since the beginning of its weekly broadcasts the Aunt Sally Superior Horseradish Company has felt that in giving you an hour of music it is accomplishing more than by taking up your time telling you about Aunt Sally Superior Horseradish. If you will listen closely you will find that the Aunt Sally Superior Horseradish Company uses only seven words in its radio advertising announcement.
And those words are: 'Aunt Sally Superior Horseradish. Really is Superior.' The next selection by the Aunt Sally Superior Horseradish Company will be a selection of Victor Herbert's music, played for you by the Aunt Sally Superior Horseradish Orchestra."

H.K. LOSES ITS RESERVESINGS A PRELUDE TO "CAVALCADE"*LAST NIGHT'S PREMIERE

Singing heartily, but with no less feeling, the songs which for four years helped hundreds of thousands of disillusioned soldiers to go through their nauseating duty with renewed cheerfulness and determination, and assisted a suffering nation at home to play nobly their part in the Great War, Hongkong last night provided its own prelude to the Premiere of "Cavalcade".

It was the original idea of the exhibitors for the band of the South Wales Borderers to entertain the huge audience with selections from "Cavalcade," but so carried away were the listeners, that, after the first two numbers, the band found themselves acting as accompanists.

The majority of the stirring war songs were included in the programme, and they brought back a flood of memories, even to those whose recollections of the Great Event were confined to margarine queues, ration tickets, air raids and hospitals crowded with maimed soldiers.

NO FINAL DEMONSTRATION.

And so with the words of "Keep the Home Fires Burning," "There's a Long, Long Trail" and "Alexander's Rag Time Band," still lingering on their lips, the audience settled down to become engrossed in what is undeniably the most brilliant spectacle the screen has ever given.

There was no demonstration at the end. Everybody stood in silence when the National Anthem was played, then quietly dispersed, overawed by the beauty of the conception and the magnificent grandeur of the Cavalcade of three decades of English history.

The scene in front of the King's Theatre prior to the start of the show was something novel for Hongkong. Crowds lined the approaches in Queen's Road and watched the arrival of His Excellency the Governor (Sir William Peel), together with Lady Peel and the official party.

The guests were received by Sir Shouson Chow under a blaze of illuminations and before a battery of cameras, and upon the entry of His Excellency, the band of the South Wales Borderers, under Bandmaster L. Gecks, played the National Anthem.

Subsequently the official party were guests of the Hongkong Hotel, where, with a big crowd of revellers, they enjoyed a supper dance.—S. A. G.

"Cavalcade" will begin its local run on Wednesday, September 20, and a full critique of the picture by "Celluloid," the Telegraph film correspondent, will appear in next Tuesday's issue.)

NEW YANGTSE S.N.O.ADMIRAL CHILTON SAILS TO-MORROW

London.

Rear-Admiral F.G.G. Chilton, who has been appointed as Rear-Admiral and Senior Naval Officer of the Yangtse, will leave England in the P. and O. Liner Comorin to-morrow, September 15.

Since his promotion on June 1, 1931, Admiral Chilton has been going through courses. This is his first appointment as Admiral, and on his arrival at the China Station, he will hoist his flag for the first time.—Reuter.

OLD BOYS IN FAR EASTSUBSCRIBE GIFT TO COLLEGE

New York.

Old boys of King William's College (Isle of Man) who are now in the Far East have sent a gift to the College Trustees.

It is a tea service made in China, and was presented during the Centenary Celebration of the College by Mr. H.W.P. McMeekin, of Shanghai.

Twenty-five old boys had joined in this presentation.

CORRESPONDENCEGUIDES AND SCOUTS.

To The Editor, Hongkong Telegraph.

Sir,—I suppose there are very few people in these days who will be found to deny the usefulness of the Girl Guide and Boy Scout Movements which have grown so remarkably during the last twenty-five years. There is, however, a tendency on the general public to take these Movements rather for granted and to forget that there is constantly a need for Guides and Scouts and also for financial support.

Here in Hongkong one has often heard the criticism made that not enough is seen of the work which the Guides and Scouts do and that therefore one cannot expect to receive the financial support which would probably be forthcoming if we had greater publicity. Our Movements do not go out of their way to court publicity, but great Rallies and Jamborees which are effective means of bringing the Movements before the Public are difficult to arrange in a place like Hongkong. On Saturday evening, September 23rd there will be a chance for members of the Hongkong Public who are interested to see a little of what Guides and Scouts can do. A concert with demonstrations is being organised by the Guides and Scouts of St. Paul's Girls' and Boys' Colleges, and it will be held in St. Paul's Girls' College commencing at 7.30 p.m. The demonstrations will include Boxing, First Aid, Signalling, etc., and the concert items will include two short plays to be given by the Guides and Scouts themselves. In addition the following have very generously offered their help:—Mr. Ronald True and the "Cheero" Band, the Misses Stella and Helen Ho and Mr. E. F. Selk. A small proportion of the proceeds will be devoted to the equipment funds of the Company and Troop organising the Concert and with the balance, which it is to be hoped will be a considerable one, we intend to form the nucleus of two Endowment Funds from which grants may be paid to assist poor Guide Companies and Scout Troops. We hope that many will consider the cause a worthy one, and if it is impossible for some to attend the Concert we shall be very glad to receive donations towards the Endowment Funds.

Yours faithfully,
N. V. HALWARD,
Assistant Commissioner,
Boy Scouts Association.

JAPAN'S TRADE BALANCESEPTEMBER FIGURES

Tokyo, Sept. 9.
Japan's foreign trade through her 13 principal ports during the first nine days of September resulted in a favourable trade balance of Yen 10,811,000 reducing the total import excess over exports since January 1 this year to Yen 105,631,000, according to a bulletin issued by the Finance Office to-day.

During the first ten days of September, Japan exported goods to the value of Yen 57,323,000 and imported goods amounting to Yen 46,512,000.

For the first time on record, the trade of Japanese colonies other than the Kwantung Lensed Territory showed a favourable trade balance during August, the Ministry of Overseas Affairs announced to-day.

The exports during August totalled Yen 7,612,000 and the imports were Yen 7,649,000 resulting in an export excess over imports to the amount of Yen 37,000.

This was due to the excellent trade between Manchukuo and Korea, the Overseas Ministry announced.

CHINA AIR FORCE PLANSTOKYO MILITARY STIRRED

Tokyo, Sept. 9.

A Shanghai despatch to the effect that the Chinese National Government decided at the recent Kuling Conference to establish a big air force with the assistance of the United States created a sensation in many circles here.

The War Office spokesman to-day stated that Japan should watch the Chinese following this report although the War Office was still doubtful as to its truth. Under the present circumstances a Chinese air force is not to be feared, it was said. However, in case aviation instructors should come from the United States, it will be another story, he added.

A Navy Office spokesman expressed regret for both China and Japan regarding the report on the ground that China's establishment of an air force under the assistance of a foreign nation other than Japan will probably result in intervention by that country at a later date. The only thing for the Japanese Navy to do is to watch the attitude of China, he stated.

PERSIAN DOCTOR GAOLEDFOR COMMENT ON GERMANS

Berlin, Sept. 8.

Because he grossly abused the hospitality extended to him for over twenty years, the Persian physician, Dr. Frassiniklan, was sentenced to-day to two years' imprisonment. He had declared in public that he considered the German people "the most stupid on earth." He had also spread the most terrible atrocity stories concerning the German Government.

The public prosecutor declared before the court that all foreigners in Germany were treated decently and Germany might therefore expect a decent behaviour on their part.

ANDORRA COMPLAINS TO THE LEAGUEOCCUPATION OF FRENCH SOLDIERS RESENTED

Geneva, Sept. 8.

The Andorran government protested to the League of Nations to-day against the occupation of Andorra by French forces, namely, fifty gendarmes. The government also nominated a Swiss citizen to represent Andorra before the League.

Unfortunately, however, Andorra has not the necessary locus standi to enable the League to hear her case.—Reuter.

Women Must Not Smoke In PublicLATEST NAZI CAMPAIGN

Cologne.

The Nazis at Kovelner, the well-known Rhineland pilgrimage town, have launched a campaign to prevent women smoking in public there.

Thousands of Catholic pilgrims visit Kovelner each year, to pray before the picture of Our Lady of Kovelner preserved in the Church. Many of the inhabitants consider that the habit of women smoking in public does not attune with the holy character of the town.

The Nazis have asked the proprietors of restaurants and places of entertainment to prohibit women from smoking in their establishments.—Reuter.

CAPTIVES' TALENANCHANG OFFICERS BOUND TO SILENCE

Shanghai, Sept. 13.

Thin and brown, and still nervous from the ordeal of their long captivity, Clifford Johnson, chief officer, W. E. Hargrave, second officer, and A. D. Blue, second engineer of the s.s. Nanchang, which was pirated last March, arrived in Shanghai to-day.

When the ship from the North docked early in the evening, they were warmly greeted by friends and officials of Butterfield and Swire, Ltd., by which company they are employed.

But the former captives of the Chinese pirate band steadfastly refuse to be interviewed. It is understood that they are bound to silence, having sold their story exclusively to The Daily Mail for £1,000 each.

They will probably stay in Shanghai a few days, after which they are expected to sail for England, though their leaves are not yet due.—Reuter.

TWO JUNKS LOST.CREW OF FOUR RESCUED BY POLICE LAUNCH

Shortly after 4 p.m. yesterday a conservancy boat left Hongkong travelling west and when off Ping On Wharf, West Point, was found to have sprung a leak. She quickly filled and sank. No. 9 Police Launch was soon on the scene and the crew of four were rescued and landed.

As a fishing junk was proceeding into Macao Harbour on Tuesday morning the rudder broke and the boat drifted on to the rocks. The heavy sea running pounded it against the rocks and smashed it to pieces. On board at the time of the mishap was a crew of thirteen all of whom managed to clamber onto the rocks. They were rescued by the s.s. San Kwok Hing, and brought to Hongkong. It is estimated that the loss is approximately $2,000.

FRANCE'S DEBT PAYMENTS BRITAIN'S LEAD TO BE FOLLOWED

London, Sept. 8.

New negotiations between France and the United States of America concerning the war debts question will soon be taken up again, according to the Paris correspondent of the Daily Telegraph who adds that the French attitude on the whole has remained unchanged and that the utmost extent to which France could go would be to pay a sum amounting to ten per cent. of the debt falling due on December 15, thus following the example set by Great Britain in June last.

It will be recalled that France failed to pay the last two debt instalments amounting to $20 and $40 millions, respectively.

NORTHERN FINANCE. CENTRAL GOVERNMENT TO AID ADMINISTRATION

Shanghai, Sept. 13.

Dr. H. H. Kung had a meeting this morning with General Huang Fu, when the financial situation in North China was discussed.

It is understood that a definite arrangement was made that in future all revenue in North China will be handed over to the Central Government. If the local revenue in the North is insufficient to meet expenses, the Government should give financial assistance. The matter is now under careful consideration by the Ministry of Finance.

NEW SIKH TEMPLE.

TO BE TWICE AS LARGE AS OLD ONE

With the rapid growth of the Sikh community in Hongkong, it has been felt for some time that the Sikh Temple situated in Gap Road, is not big enough to cope with the large number of worshippers who throng to the temple every week. In order to provide ample accommodation, the Committee of the Khalsa Diwan have decided to demolish the present temple and to erect a larger one.

Work of demolition has already begun, and the new temple will be ready in about six months' time, this being the period agreed to by Messrs. On Lee, the contractors. The new temple will be twice the size of the old one.

The old temple was built in 1902 by contributions and subscriptions from members of the local Sikh community. Their object was to provide facilities for public worship by adherents of the Sikh faith and at the same time to provide guest accommodation for needy visitors passing through the Colony. Since 1902 the temple buildings have been considerably enlarged and improved. In 1909 a northern wing was added, comprising eight rooms, to provide accommodation for family visitors on the ground floor, with quarters for the priest and a library on the floor above.

In 1917, a crematorium was also erected in a garden lot at the back of the main building and in 1918 new kitchens and bath-rooms had

ing defined as well as for the comfort of transient visitors.

ARSENAL LOSE FIRST MATCH

WEST BROM. GIANT KILLERS

CHELSEA'S SAD EXPERIENCE

TEN SCOTTISH MATCHES

London, Sept. 13.
The Arsenal to-day suffered what can be regarded as at least a surprising defeat, when they journeyed to West Bromwich and were beaten by the only goal scored.

This is the London team's first defeat of the season in five games, and it came all the more a surprise in view of the Hawthorns' unimpressive record which up to the match was three points from four matches.

Albeit these points had been won on their own pastures, and it is quite evident that before their supporters West Bromwich are as dangerous as any team in the league.

LONDON'S BLACK DAY.

London, in fact, had a black day. Chelsea, even at Stamford Bridge, were not good enough to withstand Huddersfield and conceded their first home points of the season, whilst Crystal Palace, whose home record is now inferior to their away achievements, could only share the spoils with Luton.

Coventry City and Exeter performed the expected by winning easily on their own enclosures.

In a programme of eight matches, results in the first division of the Scottish League were well nigh featureless.

Motherwell upset Hibernians' home figures by administering their first defeat, the Rangers won with customary ease, and the only result likely to cause an eyebrow to be raised was the failure of Kilmarnock to win at Dundee. They shared the points.

Results as supplied by Reuter, and revised league table records are given below.

NEW LIGHT

DISCOVERY BY SCIENTISTSWAY TO BETTER
ILLUMINATION

Cincinnati, Ohio.
A new kind of light, a rosy-hued, mercury vapour lamp, is announced by the University of Cincinnati.

In this lamp the sickly greenish hue of mercury vapour is completely changed by the addition of a pinch of potassium, the metal which flames in water. All the intensity of mercury vapour light
is retained, says the announcement.
The discovery is classed as opening the way to more efficient illumination. It has developed in the Department of Physics by two young scientists, Dr. Ipay Balinkin and Dr. D. A. Wells.

The first appearance of the new light startled them. They were experimenting with a new, long-life mercury vapour lamp produced
in their laboratory a year ago.
One of these lamps has burned
more than 10,000 hours.

The physicists added 2 per cent.
of potassium to the mercury and switched on the current to see what would happen. The greenish light of mercury vapour appeared, and then quickly the glass seemed to get red hot. The current was hastily shut off.

Then it was discovered the glass
was not red hot, but merely had
been coated inside with a red glow,
which enveloped the green vapour.

THIS QUEER WORLDCHILD AND THE TRAINA DREAM COMES TRUE

Here are some more of the strange things that have been happening in the world. They are reported by Reuter correspondents:—

Roaring and thundering, a railway train rushed down the line in the Lavant valley, Carinthia.
A child of two toddled across the rails.

Passengers looking from the windows gasped with horror as the heavy locomotive passed over the child's body.

The train halted with a jerk.
And the child crawled from beneath it and said, "Cool!"

Another child, at Jassy, Rou-mania, dreamed one night that he had gone blind.

When morning came, he opened his eyes—and found that he could not see.

Now doctors are hoping to restore his sight.

Two farmers in the Swedish village of Vinberg report that they saw a sow force her way into a field through a fence and attack
some horses which were grazing
there.

Two of the horses were killed.
And the sow hardly injured.

Otto Spertl, another farmer,
lives at Eggendorf, in Austria.
He has been honoured by the local Agricultural Chamber for his services to farmers.

He collected and destroyed three-quarters of a ton of cockchafer!

A beggar-woman stole an alarm
clock from an inn in Budapest.

Nobody saw her place it in her basket.

She was about to leave the inn—
when the alarm went off.

Now she has gone to prison.

The Municipal Court of Chicago
has been called to determine whether 1,000 allegedly "spicy" books may be kept by a landlord in lieu of rent.

BRITISH PAVILION AT LEVANT FAIRNext Year's Event At
"Wonder City"

Jerusalem.

The International Levant Fair to be held at Tel Aviv, the Jewish "wonder city" on the shores of the Mediterranean next year, is being heralded as the biggest ever held in the Near East. The foundation stone of the fair will be laid in the near future.

The first structure is to be the huge British pavilion, set aside for British firms who are going to exhibit.

The Levant Fair is considered an excellent opportunity for the development of British export trade.

A new site, on a huge triangle
of land formed by the Yarkon
river and the sea, has been chosen to accommodate the fair. It will cover 100,000 square yards of lands.

In 1932, the area was 50,000
square metres. The new site adjoins the Maccabee Stadium,
where the Jewish Olympic games were held in the spring of last year.—Reuter.

WORLD CRISIS

A WAY OUT

By FREDERICK COPE, A.M.I.E.E.

Mr. Cope's striking articles on the world economic crisis which were recently published in the Hongkong Telegraph are now available in pamphlet form.

One of the features, repaying study, is the close similarity between the plan of reform suggested by this local writer, and certain aspects of the Roosevelt recovery programme. The author's ideas are naturally far too advanced for active promotion at the present time, but they are particularly interesting in view of the fact that President Roosevelt, in striking out on a path of his own, has travelled in the same direction.

The pamphlet is one of forty-four pages and can be obtained from the South China Morning Post at a cost of

The wonders of transportation invention are shown from the early ex-curt to the modern motor car and airplane and railroad trains. Amusing are the contraptions that were the pride and joy of our forefathers who indulged in speed.

Old Heidelberg—with its drinking songs and students will delight the hearts of Hongkong German citizen and all others. Real American Indians in full war paint and feathers dance for you. Midget village with its tiny folk and real human giants will delight the children. And for the children there is shown the marvelous Enchanted Island, with its Magic Mountain and thousand and one oddities. Historic Dearborn—the original Chicago in the year 1800 is shown in exact replica and also, even to the furniture used in the log homes of those days. And climaxing the film is the wonderful and spectacular night display of flood lighting on the beautiful building and a gorgeous fireworks that turn night into day and the Fair into a fairyland a mystery.

"King of the Jungle"
Buster Crabbe is in the movies because he is an athlete with personality. If he had been an athlete without a personality or a personality without athletic ability, things would have been different.

Crabbe, world-champion swimmer, was chosen from among dozens of athletes considered to play the role of the "Lion Man" in "King of the Jungle," animal thrill-romance which opens to-morrow at the Queen's Theatre.

The competition through which Crabbe won himself the role was set under way as the result of the dilemma in which the Paramount Studios, producers of the film, found themselves after it was decided to produce "King of the Jungle." It was discovered that there was no male player in Hollywood to fit the role of the studio's taste. So the Lion Man Contest was undertaken.

"The Man From Toronto"
Those of us who sigh for the delights of a country life, would do well to partake (via the screen) of something of those imagined joys as they reach the unaccustomed ears of the town-dweller. The scene is the Red Barn, in which is set the country drama that goes to the making of "The Man from Toronto," showing today at the King's Theatre.

The sun had just risen, and a tired colonial visitor, anxious to snatch another forty winks, is awakened from his beauty sleep by the crowing of a rooster. He tries to sleep again. Ducks are squawking noisily in the farmyard, pigs are grunting, dogs barking, cows lowing. In fact, the entire farmyard seems to have entered into a conspiracy to keep the poor Canadian from slumber. It is all very well done, so natural, so convincing, that one is led to imagine that the furred and feathered denizens of the farm are on the film company's payroll. They are all so unselfconscious as to provide a striking object lesson to many an inspiring film player.

Jessie Matthews is the star of "The Man from Toronto," which Sinclair Hill directed for Gainsborough, and which is adapted from the rollicking stage-play by Douglas Murray. Jessie Matthews' part in the picture affords yet further proof of the charm and amazing ability of this star of revue. She has an opportunity in this picture of displaying not only her undoubted abilities as an actress but she dances delightfully. Those who know her work, assert that "The Man from Toronto" provides her with her finest screen opportunity yet.

Peking, Sept. 12.

CHINA EMPORIUM

DETAILED DESCRIPTION OF ENTERPRISE

A business event of considerable importance will take place on Saturday, September 16, when the China Emporium, latest addition to the Colony's big business enterprises, will be opened to the public. The main entrance to the building activity, have been removed to reveal something architecturally distinct from other buildings in Queen's Road Central. In Chinese style, six storeys high, crowned by a pagoda shaped tower of three tiers, the new building combines the utilitarian with the artistic. Its mass, with the front elevation painted a buff colour relieved with vermilion, rising high above the older buildings which surround it, easily dominates this portion of the business centre.

The building, from every point of view, represents the last word in modern practical achievement. The general features are such as to be expected in a modern departmental store, but a detailed description may not be amiss. Many of the innovations are a tribute to the versatility of the group of Chinese business men headed by the Hon. Sir Shouson Chow and Mr. Chan Harr, Chairman of Directors and General Manager respectively.

The Roof Garden.

To describe these features in detail it is more effective to depart from the usual custom and after the fashion of Chinese character writing, take the roof garden first and thence to the lower storeys. The whole area is laid out as a Chinese tea-garden, with a platform for Chinese singers and instrumentalists, and a tower in the form of a three tiered pagoda crowning the front elevation of the building and overlooking the main entrance to the building from Queen's Road. In the tower will be installed a powerful radio set with two loudspeakers. Radios will also be installed on every floor of the building, including the department where they will be of particular utility—the Cafe de luxe and dance floor on the fourth floor.

The fifth floor will be given over entirely to the business of a Chinese restaurant. This restaurant has finely paneled rooms and is furnished entirely with blackwood furniture imported from Canton at a cost of between $70,000 and $80,000.

Oil-fired ranges, refrigerators and meat strongrooms are other features of the entering business which should be more than ordinarily popular by reason of the hygienic benefits conferred by these up to the minute improvements. A bar is also installed on this floor.

The fourth floor is entirely devoted to the business of a European cafe, of which the most remarkable features are a dance floor, and distinctive decorations. The most ornate colours with gold and silver tints predominating, have been introduced into the classical Chinese motif of the interior. A bandstand of a unique design occupying the head of the room, continues this Chinese motif with its tile effect and the red lacquer and gold of its general decoration.

A waiting room and small private rooms open from two sides of the floor, and a bar and soda fountain will make the European catering business self-centred.

AGED PEER PASSES

VISCOUNT BARRINGTON AT AGE OF 85

London, Sept. 13.

The death is announced of Viscount Barrington at the advanced age of 85.—Our Own Correspondent.

Walter Bulkeley Barrington, ninth Viscount Barrington, was born on April 2, 1848, and succeeded to the title in 1901. He married his first wife, Mary Isabella Bogue, in 1870. She died in 1903, and two years later he married Charlotte Mary Birch, the widow of Arden Birch. He had three sons and a daughter. The heir to the title is Hon. W. R. S. Barrington.

Hygienic Kitchens.

Hygienic kitchens, reinforced by ice-making machinery, refrigerators and meat strongrooms will add considerably to the attractiveness of this city rendezvous. It is proposed to hold dinner dances nightly. Lighting effects are of a novel character, and include, for the first time in the Colony, Neon light tubes for the dance floor.

The four lower floors, including the mezzanine contain the general business of the Emporium. An idea of the extent of its business, which necessarily must embrace all lines of general domestic utility, can be gained by the fact that nearly 300 show cases have to be arranged. The general business offices of the concern are located on the third floor, and on the mezzanine floor there are to be a soda fountain and ice cream parlour, coupled with a luncheonette service, a ladies' beauty parlour and a gentlemen's hair dressing saloon.

HANGSANG HITS ROCK.

PUTS BACK INTO HONGKONG

MISHAP NEAR SWATOW

The Indo-China Steam Navigation Co. vessel, the a.s. Hang Sang arrived in Hongkong this morning with a damaged bottom received when she went into collision with a submerged rock near Swatow.

The vessel was bound for Tientsin from Hongkong and shortly after leaving Swatow, a jar which shook the ship was felt. It soon became obvious that the vessel had been holed. The pumps were set to work and the Hang Sang put about and steamed into Swatow.

It was there ascertained that the damage was slight and under her own steam, with pumps working, she returned to Hongkong.

She has now gone into dock at the Hongkong and Whampoa Dock Company's yard, but no examination has yet been made and the extent of the damage is not known.

Capt. Goddard was in command of the vessel.

The Hang Sang was built at Glasgow in 1901 and has a tonnage of 2,143 gross. She is 290 feet long and has a moulded depth of 15.5 feet. She is on the Hongkong, Swatow, Foochow, Chefoo, Tientsin run.

It is understood that the Hang Sang was damaged near the No. 3 hold, which began to make water.

PRICE CONFLICT

WASHINGTON, SEPT. 13. AMERICA'S BULLISH CONFIDENCE IN THE TRIUMPH OF THE ROOSEVELT RECOVERY PROGRAMME HAS RECEIVED A SERIES OF SHOCKS, AND THE FEELING THAT THE SITUATION REQUIRES A THOROUGH OVERHAUL IS NOT CONFINED TO FOREIGN CORRESPONDENTS.

President Roosevelt is now reported to be very dissatisfied with the slow rate of the increase in employment since the beginning of his recovery drive, and he also feels that farm prices are lagging too far behind the rise in general prices.

He wants a further increase in farm prices by at least sixty per cent.

Inflation on a large scale is thought in some quarters to be imminent, but those closer to the President believe that he is still determined to keep direct inflation as a last resort.

EVEN GOOD SIGNS SUSPECT

It is stated in the highest quarters that the President is putting the full weight of the government behind the banks, which he expects in return to extend to small merchants the credit necessary to enable them to carry on until they can cover the increased costs imposed by the codes by increased sales.

Even signs of recovery hitherto regarded as favourable are now suspect. It is stated, for instance, that the freer public buying indicated in the official returns of sales by the department stores is not reflective of increased purchasing power but is largely attributed to a fear of higher prices in the future.

REPERCUSSIONS.

Repercussions of the apparent slowing-up of the effects of the recovery drive are being observed in various quarters.

They include the resignation from the Presidency of the American Iron and Steel Institute of Mr. R. P. Lamont, who declares that the practical immediate demands facing industry can best be met by men familiar with vast details.

Mr. Ickes, the Secretary of the Interior, has ordered an investigation into reports from various areas of a petrol price war.

The Administration has issued a warning that it is ready to fix oil prices immediately unless the industry keeps its house in order.

COAL STRIKE.

It is learned from Pricedale that following the decision of the Pennsylvania coal-miners to go on strike until the coal code has been signed by the employers, twenty thousand men have already downed tools.—Reuter.

Meanwhile, there are reports that the Administration may have a "bankers' rebellion" on its hands before the end of the year because of the new law requiring banks to guarantee deposits.

Bankers in all parts of the country are protesting against the law in view of the fact that President Roosevelt has asked the banks to extend liberal credit to industry in order that all manufacturers may join fully in the industrial recovery programme.

The bankers say they would be glad to extend such credit were it not for the new Glass-Steagall law requiring a gigantic insurance fund to guarantee depositors against loss.

Prominent bankers in New York point out that if the industrial banks will be the ones to suffer.

FIRST OPEN PROTEST.

They contend that liberal credit such as is envisioned by the Administration and credit extended on sound banking principles are two different things.

The first open protest came from Chicago banks which are members of the clearing house association there.

They adopted a resolution urging the Government to postpone the enforcement of the deposit guarantee law until the condition of the country and of its banks, shows greater improvement.

The resolution which met an immediate response throughout the country declared that the law was radical and tantamount to penalising good banking in order to make good the losses caused by bad management.

POSTPONEMENT SOUGHT.

Unless this insurance plan is postponed thousands of banks will be compelled to close when the law becomes effective in January, according to the resolution.

Other banks have had representatives in Washington seeking a postponement.

The general contention is which banks that are loosely managed should not be permitted to operate and those following good banking procedure should not be compelled to provide an immense insurance fund to protect depositors.

The Government has been very firm with regard to the deposit question but it is learned that the Treasury will consider the proposal to postpone the application of the law and report to the President.

THE ST. LEGER

BLACK DAY FOR BOOKMAKERS

TWENTY-FOURTH "DOUBLE"

London, Sept. 13. A real Yorkshire roar from three hundred thousand throats greeted the victory of Earl Derby's Hyperion in the St. Leger.

The Derby winner was a red-hot favourite and the win was highly popular also because Lord Derby has always been one of the staunchest supporters of the Turf.

It was Lord Derby's fifth win in the St. Leger and it was a very black day for the bookmakers.

Hyperion became the twenty-fourth horse to win both the Derby and the St. Leger, and he emulated the feat of his sire, Galinborough.

Thor, the French challenger, looked beautiful as did Hyperion as they rode up for the start, but did not run at all well. Even Hyperion's time was not good considering the good going.

The Aga Khan's St. Leger luck held, Felicitation being a worthy second, beating Lord Durham's Scarlet Tiger, the stable companion of the winner, when it seemed likely to be runner-up.—Reuter.

TRUNK MURDER CONFESSION

FRANK STATEMENT BY ACCUSED

A MIDNIGHT CRIME

Macao, Sept. 14.

A frank and open confession of the Shanghai "trunk murder" was made by Jose Patricio Remedios in the course of declarations during the preparatory stages of the case.

The Attorney-General is now drawing up the charges and preparing the case against the two accused, and it is thought highly probable that the formal hearing will take place within a fortnight.

Patricio is striving his utmost to clear his brother, Jose Eulalia, of all responsibility.

It is learned that he told legal representatives that he killed the girl, Choy Ling, who had been living with him as his wife in a fit of jealousy at about midnight.

CASUAL MEETING.

The next day, he went out casually and met his brother, Jose Eulalia, who lived in another house, explained the affair to him and asked him to assist in removing the body of the dead girl.

They bought the trunk and put the body into it. He himself saw the trunk aboard ship.

In admitting his guilt, he stated that he regrets and repents his act.—Our Own Correspondent.

"SLUGS" JACK DEMPSEY

San Francisco, Sept. 14. The Australian boxer, Grimes, when ordered to cease wrestling during a boxing match at San Bernardino, "slugged" the referee, but caught a Tartar.

The referee happened to be Jack Dempsey, who promptly knocked out Grimes.

ANOTHER TYPHOON

BUT ABOUT 1,000 MILES OFF

Another typhoon may be threatening the China coast in the vicinity of Hongkong within the next few days.

At the moment the disturbance is out in the Pacific some distance east of central Luzon, its position being about Lat. 16° N. Long. 130° E. It is travelling W.N.W. in the general direction of Hongkong, although it is about a thousand miles away this morning.

With the continued fall of rain the water situation has further improved on the island. A total fall of 49 million gallons has been recorded during the 24 hours ending this morning, bringing the aggregate storage to 1,785 million gallons. The total capacity of the island reservoirs is 2,387 million gallons.

It is not expected that there will be any alteration in the existing restrictions for at least another week even if the rain continues to fall.

"ANTI-DUMPING" PROPOSALS

Nanking, Sept. 14. According to a spokesman of the anti-dumping committee which is jointly organised by the Financial and Industrial Departments of the Nanking Government to study the possibility of anti-dumping taxes on imported goods, the committee has completed its work, and recommendations will be submitted to the Government for their adoption.

Certain classes of imported goods such as matches, cement and electric bulbs are already subject to different rates of anti-dumping tax, and the committee's recommendations may be interpreted as an indication of intention of applying protectionist measures to other kinds of imported goods.—Central News Agency.

UCHIDA REPLACED

TOKYO POLITICAL SURPRISE

HEALTH REASONS GIVEN

Tokyo, Sept. 14.

Political circles were surprised this morning when it was officially announced that Count Uchida, the Secretary for Foreign Affairs, had tendered his resignation and that Mr. Koki Hirota had been appointed as his successor.

Mr. Hirota will be installed in charge of the Foreign Office this afternoon.

Count Uchida's resignation is officially described as being due to ill-health, though it is reported in well-informed quarters to be due, at least in part, to a difference of opinion in high places regarding foreign policy.

EARLIER HINT.

Although the resignation came unexpectedly, it is recalled that his intention to resign "owing to ill-health" was reported at the end of August.

The report was then denied, although Count Uchida, who is 69 years of age, admitted that he has been feeling the strain of heavy work.

COUNT UCHIDA.

Count Uchida has been a prominent figure during the last two years, largely as a result of the Manchurian trouble which broke out in 1931.

He was at that time President of the S.M.R. and to his quick decisions and policy, he owes his recall to the Foreign Office and became Foreign Minister for the fifth time in the Saito Government in July last year.

He took office at a time when friction between Japan and China was at its height and in the face of the extreme nationalism of the Army as well as the world crisis.

DIPLOMATIC APPOINTMENTS.

Uchida first entered the Foreign Office after studying law, and his first post was at the Embassy in Washington. Later he was sent to the Embassy at London, and in 1893 was transferred to the Legation at Peking.

In 1900 he was appointed deputy Foreign Minister, and became Foreign Minister for the first time in 1912. He again held the post from 1918 to 1923.

He represented Japan at the signing of the Kellogg Pact, and when a year later the Japanese Government raised objections to the ratification of the pact, he resigned his membership of the Council as a protest.

In order to retain his services for the Government, the Emperor made him a Crown member of the Upper House.

MR. HIROTA'S CAREER.

Mr. Koki Hirota, successor to Count Uchida, was until recently Ambassador in Moscow.

In 1900, when he entered on a diplomatic career, he was attached to the Chinese Legation, and three years later to the Embassy in London. In 1914 he became Section Chief of the Commercial Bureau, and four years later was attached to the Embassy at Washington. After three years he was appointed Section Chief of the Intelligence Bureau, and from 1924 to 1927 was Director of the Euro-American Bureau of the Foreign Office.

For three years from 1927 he was Minister to the Hague, and in October 1930 was appointed Ambassador in Moscow.

Mr. Hirota is 55 years of age.—Reuter.

THE WORLD OF WOMEN

BIZARRE NOVELTIES GIVE WAY TO COSTUMES OF GOOD TASTE

Wear white for yachting or the beach, whether you choose skirts or pyjamas, says Jean Patou. Both of these costumes are made of white lamé. The sweater with the skirt has a round yoke, belt section and tiny cuffs of white. The jacket sweater with the trousers buttons up the front, and takes a red tie to give it a tri-colour appeal. The novel little berets are of navy tricot, too.

By Jean Patou

Paris.—Any trace even of eccentricity fortunately seems banished from the creation of beach clothes. Ever since its inception, there has been in this category of woman's dress a continual novelty, and something akin to a renaissance of the mode. Strictly speaking, changes here were all too frequent and bordering on the incoherent.

The fact of the matter is that women were motivated, as always in the matter of dress, by their desire for novelty and this desire, for a long time, was accompanied by a certain amount of indecision. Hand in hand with this uncertainty and paradoxical as it may sound, was combined the usual feminine assurance which produced some startling innovations, often bordering on bad taste.

A Vogue That Was Carried Too Far

It would be unjust to make any reproach to couturiers on that score. Beach dresses and ensembles undoubtedly constitute a category of dress which has most evolved during the last few years. As with all evolutions, however, there invariably comes a period tantamount to revolution, therefore somewhat disorderly, and producing exaggerations which always occur when anything relatively new appears.

At the outset, the great novelty resided in the fact of wearing special things for the beach. Until then women had been content with clothes which of all their wardrobe represented the coolest, gayest and most practical wear; in short, dresses best suited to the beach.

Then the desire for greater ease and comfort determined the sudden vogue for beach pyjamas and an excessive fantasy was immediately registered in this realm. Purely and simply a fantasy in itself, the pyjama did not need to be fashioned of crepe, chiffon or any other extravagant medium to be original. It carried sufficient resources within itself to escape banality, without having to be eccentric also.

I believe that beach styles have now acquired a sort of discipline which groups all garments belonging to this category under the sign of quiet elegance and good taste. Exaggerated fantasy is to-day rigorously barred, but discreet original touches are not only permitted, but most effective.

The best theme on which to build beach clothes is to start on a simple idea and then create an ensemble where each garment offers an unexpected note of fantasy, without having to resort either to excessive volume or bizarre cut.

FASHION NOTES GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By Alicia Hart.

(From a Paris Correspondent)

Feathers, which were fashionable in pre-war days, are returning to favour again.

Any woman who has had cherished bird-of-paradise plumes and aspires in the bottoms of trunks for many years, may now bring them out and count themselves lucky not to have thrown them away, for such feathers are fetching high prices, and are used by every important milliner this season.

A favourite hat-trimming is the stiff quill clipped into triangular shapes and laid one over the other, to make neat toques; indeed, the feather toque is a mode which is already firmly established. It may be of such downy plumes that it looks like velvet, or, again, each separate feather may be clearly visible.

Another trimming, but an expensive one, is the nigrette set straight against a crown, generally in the front, or in the middle of the back. Bird-of-paradise tails are seen placed stiffly on either side of a simple, close-fitting toque. The peacock feather is also to the fore where hat-trimmings are concerned.

Lacquered feathers clearly prove the increasing vogue of waxed fabrics in millinery. Some are so heavily lacquered they appear almost like straw, and, when used with such a material, blend into it until only upon close observation can one distinguish straw from feathers.

There is something new under the sun! It's makeup for your eyelashes and eyebrows! It's a big mistake to try to change the colour of your lashes and brows. In doing so, you defeat the true purpose of cosmetics. Cosmetics are to enhance the beauty that is already there. Completely change the colour of your eyelashes and eyebrows and you throw them out of the line of harmony which causes them to blend with your complexion and hair.

There is a new cosmetic (it's liquid and has a bluish transparency) which is to be used on both eyelashes and brows. You apply it with the little dropper which comes in the bottle and then brush your eyelids upward with the same kind of a brush ordinarily sold with mascara.

It does not change the natural shade. It only darkens it. It is not creamy and will not rub off, nor wash off. You have to use cleansing cream to remove it.

In other words, it is a dye. The same colour is suitable for every complexion.

"Soldiers Of The King"

Dorothy Hyson, the pretty daughter of Dorothy Dickson, the musical comedy star, was engaged to play an important part in Cicely Courtneidge's new film. This is called "Soldiers of the King," and Dorothy plays a triple role in a story of an old vaudeville family, written specially for the screen by Douglas Furber. Miss Hyson, whose services were actively bid for by Hollywood, is one of the prettiest girls in London and inherits much of her mother's theatrical talent.

"Soldiers of the King" is a British picture with exceptional qualities of entertainment, coming next to Sunday to the King's Theatre. Cicely Courtneidge plays a dual role with outstanding success. She is both mother and daughter in the film, her "mother" being a study of rare charm.

"Century Of Progress Exposition At Chicago"

Of timely interest to every Hongkong theatre goer, old and young, for all nationalities, is the really fine Pathé News Special of the Century of Progress World's Fair at Chicago, which will be shown to-day at the Central Theatre. This picture takes one through the entire exposition, beginning with a thrilling air ride over the grounds with a bird's eye view, and then on the ground through all the streets and various exhibits. There are shown the spectacular Sky-Ride, with its 628 foot towers between which are suspended the rocket cars which carry sightseers across the lagoon and the marvellous view.

The great Avenue of Flags, flanked on all sides by astounding sights the circular shaped buildings of the great Electrical Group—monuments to the pioneers in the industry—the three 150 foot towers of the Federal Building and its dome, typifying the Legislative, executive and judicial branches of the government, and the V-shaped Court of States, set off by the 48 seals of the individual states of the Union—all are shown to best advantage.

The wonderful Travel and Transport Building with the dome that is suspended 125 feet in the air by cables and that breathes with the change in atmospheric pressure, the marvellous Hall of Science to which hundreds of thousands of visitors have already flocked are homes of the wonders of the progress of science and invention. The 176 foot Carillon with the Hall of Science forms a huge centrepiece in the Exposition. Everywhere about are the examples of ancient and modern architecture. The startling and pleasing Italian building devoted to the progress of the kingdom from the time of Caesar is shown in a fine example of exhibit. The Belgian village, complete in every detail of house, tower and church and villages who sing and dance in the streets, the Golden Pavilion of Jehol, China's beautiful exhibition building, and even King Solomon's Temple are shown in this picture. Miniature Paris, with its boulevards and cafes, its Apaches and dancers, and with a real Paris Fashion Show in which are displayed beauties of form and feature that will make the audience gasp in astonishment—all these and

CHAPTER XXI

Eve ignored Mona Allen for the rest of that day. She was so annoyed by the other girl's trickery that she felt she could not trust herself to speak to Mona. Fortunately Eve had no work to discuss with her.

Mona entered Barnes' office the middle of the afternoon and did not reappear for almost an hour. Arlene, glancing up from her typewriter during Mona's absence, said, "I wonder what Lorelei's game is. She certainly makes occasions to be alone with his highness!"

Eve said, "Don't be foolish, Arlene."

Arlene answered flippantly, "Don't be so glib, Eve! That girl is no saint."

Mary, from her corner by the window, merely looked up at them and smiled. What Mary thought, no one knew.

When Mona returned to her desk she did not glance at either of the other girls. Her features were without expression as she folded a few sheets of fresh copy paper, picked up a pencil and left the office.

"She's probably gone to see George Bliss on the pretence of asking what's new in the rug department," commented Arlene.

"Well, I've got plenty of work to do myself and I must say I can do it a lot better when Mona is far, far away," Arlene began to type rapidly.

Eve was tempted to tell Dick about the luncheon with Theron Reese and explain how it had come about but she decided that to do so would be to attach importance to the incident. It did not occur to her to discuss her venture on the stock market with Dick. In that matter she wished to play a lone hand until she had achieved results.

Hence she encouraged him to talk about his work.

"I'll take you out to see the theatre Sunday morning," he told her. "It's going to be ready for the public in two weeks. Just now the auditorium is being decorated and equipment installed. There will be quite a staff working Sunday because of the time limit for the opening."

On Sunday morning, as he had promised, Dick tucked Eve into the roadster and drove the short distance to the new building. The white brick and terra cotta structure loomed up 17 storeys high. They entered the lobby where workmen were laying rich, heavy carpeting over thick padding. Here the walls were panelled in gold satin brocade and a gold chandelier with hundreds of intricately cut crystals lighted the scene.

They passed through the auditorium where the seats were being installed. The silver screen was already in place. Dick took Eve up in the dressing room elevator and she saw modern conveniences in almost luxurious form for the comfort of the actors and actresses. She was particularly impressed with the laundry and drying room and the nursery for the children of the stage-folk. Eve looked down at the stage from the fly-loft and became slightly dizzy.

"Now I'll show you the 'green room,'" Dick told her as they stepped into the elevator again. They descended to a room opposite the wings, beautifully decorated in white and gold. In the centre was a billiard table, and great, soft easy chairs were grouped about. "No matter what its colour scheme may be this room is called the green room," Dick explained. "It is the actors' sitting room. Later on you will see it in use."

An organ had been installed and was being tested. Snatches of melodies filled the air. Dick glanced about and saw no one observing them. He gathered Eve close in the shadow of the wings for a brief instant.

"The first kiss on the new stage," he murmured.

Eve was always to remember that Sunday. It gave her her first insight into the romance of building. Dick's employers, she knew, specialized in the construction of theatres but it was not until that morning that she appreciated the extreme skill required for this branch of work. The owners had spared no expense to create beauty as well as utility and the result was breath-taking in effect.

The day meant more than that to Eve. The uneasy feeling she had known for the past week seemed to slip away from her. Dick was all kindness and consideration and Eve was ashamed of the fact that she had doubted him even for a moment. She resolved to make this up to him in the future. Dick's love was suddenly the most important thing in the world for her and she wanted him to know it.

She curled up in a lounge chair that afternoon with a new book. She made it a point to bring home a book from the circulating library each week-end. After she finished reading the book Eve always entered its title and the name of its author in a tiny notebook she carried in her purse. She had begun this system when she was in high school and had followed it faithfully ever since.

Monday morning Eve returned to her work as though inspired. She thought of the actresses soon to come to Lake City for the opening of the theatre and decided to make an especial bid for their patronage in the store advertising she wrote. Barnes commended her for her foresight.

That noon Eve accompanied Mary to a Scottish tearoom where a twinkling-eyed Highland lassie told their fortunes by reading the leaves in their tea-cups. Eve attached no significance to the prophecies made for her but Mary was apparently overjoyed because the seeress predicted she would soon be married. Eve smiled to herself. It would not take a fortune teller to predict marriage for a girl so sweet and lovely as Mary.

When the home edition of the evening newspaper was delivered to the office Eve turned to the financial pages. Strange, she thought, how light-hearted she had been but an hour before and now her world was plunged into gloom. Pure Soap, Inc., had gone down a point.

It was hard for her to concentrate on her work for the next hour. As soon as the stock edition was due she sent Charles down to the corner to purchase a copy for her. Her hopes returned as she noted that Pure Soap, Inc., had regained its loss and closed at the same figure it had been maintaining for a week.

The next day, however, there was much trading in Pure Soap, Inc., and it gained three points. Eve's hopes soared. She walked about the office as though entranced and then worked as one possessed with inspiration.

"Why the effervescence?" asked Arlene.

Eve merely smiled and did not answer.

Dick was glad to find her so cheerful that evening. He wondered at her joyousness but inasmuch as she had nothing in particular to relate he attributed the mood to good health and youthful spirits.

The next day Pure Soap, Inc., gained two points. It seemed to Eve that this was too good to be true.

Thursday the stock gained three more after a day of brisk trading. It fluctuated a bit then and closed Friday exactly 10 points above the price at which Eve had made her initial investment.

Ten points! Eve figured her gain. Oh, this was fun, she thought. At that rate she could make money—loads of it! No wonder there was so much excitement about the stock market. Sell? Indeed no, Eve told herself. Not when Pure Soap, Inc., was advancing at that rate. She would hold out until it had advanced five more points.

U.S. INFLATION

New York, Sept. 13.
An urgent plea for "national inflation" has been received by President Roosevelt from Senator Pat Harrison, Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.
Senator Harrison said: "Commodity prices must rise. I am in favour of some form of rational inflation. We have got to do more than we are doing. This will help both the bankers and the farmers. The latter are the ones who really need help now."
Senator Harrison's suggestion to the President is believed to be significant in view of the recent relapse of business activity and commodity prices.
Meanwhile the critical state of President Roosevelt's "Prosperity Drive" is indicated by the poor response to General Johnson's strenuous "Buy Now" campaign.
The increase in wage levels has been insufficient to offset the rise in prices and farmers are complaining that the return for their products is lagging far behind the cost of manufactured goods.
Many observers think that President Roosevelt will be forced into outright inflation in order to pump purchasing power into the public purse.—Reuter.

GOLD REGULATIONS.

First Step To Allow Open Trading.
Washington, Sept. 13.
The Gold Regulations have been further modified. Permission is now granted to licensed manufacturers to buy scrap gold, such as trinkets, jewellery and teeth fillings, which could previously be sold only to the mints.—Reuter.
The embargo on the export of gold was recently lifted by President Roosevelt in order to allow producers to take advantage of the prevailing high prices on the world market.

WHEAT DISPOSAL.

To Prevent Dumping On World Market.
Washington, Sept. 13.
Tentative plans for the disposal of over 30,000,000 bushels of wheat stored along the north-west Pacific coast are announced by the Farm Adjustment Board.
Export Associations will play a big part in the disposal. It is estimated that China will take 15,000,000 bushels; Japan 12,000,000; Ireland a possible 6,000,000.
It is expected that the Secretary of Agriculture, Mr. Wallace, will approve of the plan.
The vast store of wheat has been a constant threat to prices. The Government is reimbursing holders to the extent of from 15 to 20 cents per bushel to make up for the anticipated loss.
The Pacific Northwest denotes the states of Washington and Oregon beyond the Rockies, the store-house of so-called white wheat, heavy stocks of which have long threatened price levels on the inland market.
The proposals are tantamount to a Government subsidy of 15 to 20 cents a bushel to enable holders to export at current world prices.—Reuter.

GROWING UNREST.

Roosevelt Facing Many Enemies.
London, Sept. 13.
The Washington correspondent of The London Times, whose comments hitherto have been most sympathetic to the American National Recovery Administration, refers to-day to the covert opposition of big business to the United States President's plans and the growing animosity between labour and wealth.
The correspondent sees, too, a spreading of the resentment among urban and rural consumers, as increased costs of production are offset by high retail prices and continued weakness in the banking structure.
The newspaper adds that up to now the National Recovery Administration has not brought back prosperity to the United States. There have been some increases in wages, a shortening of working hours and the hope has arisen that "sweetshop" wages will be abolished, together with the grosser inequalities of child labour. But what is needed infinitely more before the winter is the recognition of the necessity of liberal supplies of fixed capital.
The correspondent also knows where capital is obtainable under the present law, under which promoters are liable to prosecution or imprisonment, unless it is supplied by the Government.—Reuter.

TRUNK MURDER

PATRICIO REMEDIOS ADMITS GUILT
Macao, Sept. 13.
Patricio Remedios, charged in connexion with the Shanghai Trunk Murder, declared in Court to-day that he had killed Choy Ling in a fit of jealousy, because of her friendly relations with other men.
To-day's hearing was in camera and not part of the actual trial, which will be open to the public and will commence at the earliest possible date.
A remarkable revelation at to-day's hearing was that neither Patricio nor his brother Jose, who is also charged, speak a word of Portuguese. Both speak English and Japanese.
Judge Raposo will preside at the trial. The Attorney General, Senhor Alves Ferreira, is drawing out the case for the prosecution and Mr. R. X. A. Silva, well known in Hongkong for his knowledge of the law, is drawing out the case for the defence.
Patricio is extremely nervous and is exceedingly irritable, with a knowledge where capital is obtainable under the present law, under which promoters are liable to prosecution or imprisonment, unless it is supplied by the Government.—Reuter.

PROCEEDS OF LOAN.

PROVINCES APPEALING FOR SHARES
Nanking, Sept. 13.
Following the appeal from the Kweichow Provincial Government for $5,000,000 of the proceeds of the American wheat and cotton loan to China, further telegrams have been received here from the provincial administrations claiming a share of the money for various projects.
Telegrams from the northwestern provinces suggest that $100,000 of the loan be apportioned for the completion of the Lungai Railway in order to link those provinces with central China.—Reuter.

CAMPAIGN

Cologne. The Nazis at Kavelaer, the well-known Rhineland pilgrimage town, have launched a campaign to prevent women smoking in public there.

Thousands of Catholic pilgrims visit Kavelaer each year, to pray before the picture of Our Lady of Kavelaer preserved in the Church. Many of the inhabitants consider that the habit of women smoking in public does not attain with the holy character of the town.

The Nazis have asked the proprietors of restaurants and places of entertainment to prohibit women from smoking in their establishments.—Reuter.

TWO JUNKS LOST.CREW OF FOUR RESCUED
BY POLICE LAUNCH

Shortly after 4 p.m. yesterday a conservancy boat left Hongkong travelling west and when off Ping On Wharf, West Point, was found to have sprung a leak. She quickly filled and sank. No. 9 Police Launch was soon on the scene and the crew of four were rescued and landed.

As a fishing junk was proceeding into Macao Harbour on Tuesday morning the rudder broke and the boat drifted on to the rocks. The heavy sea running pounded it against the rocks and smashed it to pieces. On board at the time of the mishap was a crew of thirteen all of whom managed to clamber onto the rocks. They were rescued by the s.s. San Kwok Hing, and brought to Hongkong. It is estimated that the loss is approximately $2,000.

"When round the festive board we sit,

MONETARY POLICY

In the debate as to whether or not the value of currency can be kept stable by government regulation, the example of Sweden has been cited by both sides. The managed money advocates have pointed to Sweden's success in keeping domestic prices fairly level while those in other countries have been falling, with discouraging effect on employment and business activity. Now the opposing school has analysed the Swedish statistics and come to the conclusion that far from having solved its economic troubles through the management of its currency, the country feels the depression like everyone else. As is often the case, the truth lies somewhere between these two extremes. When Sweden was forced to abandon the gold standard at the end of September, 1931, chiefly by the British example, the first concern of the authorities was to assure the Swedish public that the value of its money would not disappear as it had in Germany and other European countries a decade before. They engaged, so far as lay in their power, to maintain the internal purchasing power of the krona. In other words, their first purpose was to allay fear. In that respect they were successful. The cost of living did not go up. In July this year the index number was 153, with the prices of July, 1914, taken as 100. When the country went off gold, the retail price index was 153. The trouble was more the other way. When the first anxiety had been relieved, it was found that while on the gold standard Sweden, like its neighbours, allowed prices to slip too far, and in May, 1932, a policy was adopted that would tend to raise wholesale prices moderately, while keeping the cost of living as nearly stable as possible. But in spite of these efforts the wholesale price index, which had gone up from 107 in September, 1931, to 110 a year later, sank back to 105 last March, following the world trend. Since last May it has been rising again. Sweden's present policy is still to effect a moderate rise in the domestic level of wholesale prices, whether in conjunction with other countries or independently, but its cardinal aim is to keep the cost of living within the country as even as possible. While it is true that so far the success of its financial policy in keeping prices steady has not saved the country from all the ills of the world-wide depression, it has protected it from some of the effects felt elsewhere.

NOTES OF THE DAY

WATER SUPPLY

The downpour which ended the local drought has relieved official minds of any anxiety about a possible water famine in the Spring without being sufficient to lessen the inconvenience to island consumers by way of a relaxation of restrictions. Some there are who will grumble; at the same time appreciating the Government's attitude. The phenomenally dry August, carried well into September, provided a scare from which recovery is not easy, and if the present policy is interpreted as one of excessive caution, it must also be regarded as only natural in the circumstances. Figures could be quoted by the yard, perhaps, to illustrate that, at the present rate of consumption, the water in storage should be adequate to meet requirements for nine months or even longer and that an extension of hours of supply might well be risked. For the moment, however, patience with safety first will do no harm and Hongkong residents may console themselves with the thought that, at least, they have escaped the unpleasantness of a three-hour limit by Christmas, a prospect which was rather more definite than a possibility until the rains of this week. The weather during the remainder of September will be the final arbiter of the island's fate for the rest of the winter. Three or four inches of steady rain will ease both minds and restrictions.

CRICKET RECORDS

Cricket achievements are curious things. Freeman, the little man of Kent who trundles out batting giants with astonishing regularity, seems likely to top the three hundred wickets mark for the second time in his career, for it is impossible that he should be left out of the final match of the season, the Champions versus the Rest. Yet his appearances for England have been rare and when he has turned out, has seldom been given the chance to distinguish himself. He went to Australia a few years ago, but did not bowl a single ball in a Test match. Much the same sort of comment might have been made about Ames, until recently. He beat all wicket-keeping records for three years in succession, but found Duckworth displacing him for England. He obtains his place consistently to-day because of his batting prowess, not because of his 'qualities as a stumper. The explanation is, of course, partly to be discovered in Kent's barrenness in attack. If Freeman does not get the wickets, they are not obtained, and his understanding with Ames is perfect. Between them they have rescued Kent from many a predicament.

SOCIAL PROBLEMS

That journal of many parts, The Rock, has entered into the discussion on local social problems, taking up the issue more or less at the point at which we recently left off, and contributing one or two useful suggestions. We doubt, however, if the mere dissemination of information, valuable as it may be, is likely to rouse public and government to necessary action. We are, perhaps more cynical in our view of Hongkong mental processes, taken in the mass, than the contributors to The Rock may permit themselves to be. Also, it would seem, our use of the term "agitation" conveyed an idea to which they could not subscribe. The substitution of active insistence would probably represent more accurately our own policy and at the same time widen the door for supporters.

SLUM EVILS

We do not like laissez faire and never did, neither in government nor in economics, nor yet in problems connected with social betterment. This Colony should set an example not acquiescence in the evils of acute poverty with the excuse that similar or worse conditions are to be found in Swatow, Canton and other places and that the sufferers are accustomed to their mode of existence. Such considerations do not ease the minds of those who see (not merely look at) the hardships round about, coupled with the appalling way of life thrust upon thousands in our slums partly through government's failure to insist upon observance of the Health and Building Ordinance. We admit that the problem is not likely to be solved by rigid application of the regulations. But if owners of properties cannot be compelled to content themselves with a fair return and the "principal tenant" sub-division scandal cannot be overcome by any other means, the Government's alternative, that of the provision of Government model sub-divided tenements where economic stress demands the tenement type of building.

GERMANY'S AIR PANIC

By MARGARET SETON WAGNER

So thorough are the measures that Berlin is now taking against aerial attack that they include the removal from the city's attics and lofts of all inflammable material; even old bedsteads are being taken away.

RED handbills have been pasted up overnight on the doors of the big block of flats that make up an ordinary Berlin street with the stamps of the local police-court upon them. Streets where these handbills have not yet appeared are merely a sign that the police force on that particular beat is somewhat slower than in the neighbouring district.

For Berlin, like every other German city, has now been divided up into units corresponding to local police jurisdiction to provide for safety, not from ordinary menaces to public peace, but to danger from the air.

The handbills are printed in the form of a manifesto.

ORGANISING THE POPULATION.

Citizens are called upon to do their national duty and help support the efforts made to safeguard them by subscribing whatever amount they can afford to the National Air Protection Society. They are reminded that soon members of every household will be made aware of their individual responsibility to themselves and their fellow men.

In some cases the names of halls are given where meetings will be held at which instruction in these responsibilities can be gathered. In others the organisation is not yet so complete. But the German citizen will be required as a national duty to attend at least one such meeting and gather whatever instruction he or she may be able to obtain.

This instruction will confine itself in the main to describing the correct behaviour before, during and after a raid of any kind from the air. Although the eventualities of poison-gas is the pivotal point, the dangers from bombs will also be enlarged upon.

EVERY FAMILY TRAINED.

But the population as a whole will be divided up into passive citizens and active safeguarders of their interests.

One member of every family will learn the use of a gas-mask and know what to do when the moment comes.

The others will at least know how to obey order. It has not yet been stated which members of the family will be chosen in the case of there being no adult male in the home.

But the tremendous zeal and the deadly seriousness underlying the present propaganda point to an enlightening of the civilian population without any subsidy from public funds on an undreamed-of scale.

This action is only temporary. All teachers in German schools are now receiving special instruction in dangers from the air, which they will impart to their pupils, so that the younger generation, it is presumed, will know how to take care of itself.

This new National move towards protection from the air came into being three months ago and cancelled out all existing associations of more or less sporadic growth. The actual movement in Germany dates from 1927, when it was decided that the Versailles Treaty permitted a safeguarding of the public from the air. But it was not until 1930 that the idea grew in volume outside military and technical circles. It was taboo in pacifist circles.

In 1931 and 1932 the appearance of foreign aircraft flying over German territory gave a welcome impetus to propaganda. The incident of the aeroplane believed to have fallen from German Social Democratic circles in Prague which scattered seditious leaflets over Nazi ground made quite as much impression in Germany as the similar occurrence in Austria which so lately brought forth an international diplomatic protest.

If Germans are told to-day that it is their duty to know all about protection from bombs and poison-gases the organisation controlling this movement is so magnificently equipped that it is very certain that these occurrences have been given full publicity value.

ACTIVE AND PASSIVE.

The difference, moreover, between the "active" and the "passive" resistors to these forces from on high cannot be too greatly stressed. Only a certain amount of elite troops of young men will possess gas-masks, learn how to patrol the streets and—it is presumed—to determine which form of gas or bomb it is that menaces the population. The rest of the populace will simply know how to obey orders, but to obey them implicitly without panic.

The "air-raid" lately reported from Munich, and similar tests which have taken place in Breslau, Königsberg and other cities, indicate a sincerity in the belief that Germany's populace must be warned against attacks from her neighbours, which is distressing to those who believe that any form of protection from danger runs counter to the ideals of pacifism.

There should be no need, according to these tenets, to inspire a humble Berlin householder with horror merely by informing him that he dwells in a big city lying open and exposed to horrible menaces from a frontier only 14 hours away by train.

THE LAX CIVILIAN.

Actually, it is possible to look a little deeper into the matter and discover the true aims of the Protection-from-the-air propagandists. There may be military hardships among them whose motto it is to ensure peace by preparing for war. But the great majority who enjoy this "national duty" believe in the training of a whole population in habits of order, obedience, discipline and belief in authority. No better way of training the lax civilian in the military virtues could have been devised, the mere fact of making him pay for his "defence" according to his capacity, and telling him it is his duty, gives a spontaneity to the movement which it would lack entirely if it had grown out of ordinary taxation.

The Very Idea!

PALMY DAYS

By Eddio "Cantor" Kelly

EVERY day in every way our Adam's apple moves up and down more rapidly over sport.

It is computed that if all the space set aside in newspapers regarding cricket scores, gush, and lawn bowls was set aside it would make a good parking area.

Is all this excitement over mere games justified? Hyperion wins the Derby and St. Leger and what does it do? Ill feeling is bred between book-makers and punters, jockeys of losing horses feel discontented with their lot, and everyone's sore at everyone else.

Oh, yes, we know a lot about horse racing. Our old man used to follow horses 'once, and we don't mean he had the kind of job you're thinking of.

A punter, for instance, is not a man who drives a punt. He's a better, though he's no better than anybody else, unless it's a book-maker.

Even then he's not equal to most bookmakers, who, by the way, don't make books. Under English laws they'd get booked if they did. That is, if they make illegal slips. Most of the punters make the slips.

But to get back to the book-makers, that's what we all like to do after the race, the chosen race, we mean.

There are other kinds of races, too—wait-for-age races, where the griffins we back wait for the old ones; maiden races for fillies only. You watch the races from the stands. Stands are provided for the people to stand on. Fielders stand in front of the stands, so they can get a good start if the favourite happens to win.

Fielders is a term borrowed from cricket because they make catches, only they catch the mugs.

Then, there's the urger. He is either a retired jockey, a trainer's grand-father, or his uncle's friend's next-door-neighbour's milkman used to deliver to Hyperion's groom's niece. You can always tell an urger, but he's more likely to tell you.

Taking it all in all, horse racing is a poor sport except for a rich man.

"CAVALCADE"

We were one of the distinguished gathering who attended the gala premiere of "Cavalcade" last night.

As we entered the front portals of the King's Theatre cameras clicked, flashlights flashed and people stood at attention.

We bowed, smiled, threw our tooth-pick away and followed His Excellency the Governor inside.

By pretending that we were an A.D.C. we were able to successfully negotiate the door-keeper.

It was the most magnificent spectacle we have ever seen. We went out and celebrated the relief of making by drinking some free beer in the King's Restaurant.

We also celebrated the ascension of King Edward to the throne, drowned our sorrows at the sinking of the Titanic, got thirsty at the sight of Herbert Mundin's pub, celebrated the Armistice, and drank a few more for good measures.

What's the use of them putting on free beer if you don't drink it. We forgot what happened afterwards. But it was a fine picture.

LET'S SPONSOR

Someone suggested the other day that ZBW should broadcast sponsored programmes, similar to those transmitted by the Manly station. Moderation, of course, would have to be utilised in advertising.

Something like this, for instance:

"FRIENDS of the radio audience: The Aunt Sally Superior Horseshadish Company, sponsoring this programme for your enjoyment, does not believe that radio listeners want their concerts interrupted by long advertising announcements. Therefore, the makers of Aunt Sally Superior Horseshadish will not delay this programme more than a few moments. They appreciate the fact that you are more interested in the next number than in the excellent qualities of Aunt Sally Superior Horseshadish. And since the beginning of its weekly broadcasts the Aunt Sally Superior Horseshadish Company has felt that in giving you an hour of music it is accomplishing more than by taking up your time telling you about Aunt Sally Superior Horseshadish. If you will listen closely you will find that the Aunt Sally Superior Horseshadish Company uses only seven words in its radio advertising announcements. And those words are: 'Aunt Sally Superior Horseshadish.' Really! In the next advertisement by the Aunt Sally Superior Horseshadish Company will be a selection of Victor Herbert's favourite music for you by the Aunt Sally Superior Horseshadish Orchestra."

"You probably won't like my wife but she is a darn good cook."

NEW "DAILY MAIL" SENSATION

POISON PLOT
RUMOURDAILY MAIL STORY ON KING FEISAL'S END

The Daily Mail has given publicity to a remarkable message from its Basra correspondent reporting that an investigation would be made into the death of King Feisal of Iraq, because of a suspicion that he may have been poisoned.

An Oriental mystery poison plot was suspected when the manager of the hotel where King Feisal died, himself succumbed three hours later.

Both apparently died of heart trouble, but the theory was advanced that some strange poison with which western doctors are unfamiliar might have been used.

London, Sept. 13. Sir Francis Humphrys, the British Ambassador at Iraq, will represent His Majesty at the public funeral of King Feisal at Baghdad. H.M.S. "Despatch" which is conveying the King's body home is due to arrive to-morrow morning at Haifa where a Royal Air Force plane is in readiness to carry it on the last stage of its journey to Baghdad.—British Wireless.

BLOOD BY PLANE
CARRIED IN THERMOS
FLASK

The use of the aeroplanes in saving life has never been more forcibly demonstrated than by a recent case which has just occurred in Australia.

Lying dangerously ill in a Brisbane hospital, a man was given a few days to live unless a certain kind of blood transfusion could be carried out. The most suitable blood giver, however, happened at the time to be in Sydney, more than 600 miles away. Messages were hastily telephoned, an aeroplane was chartered, and a pint of blood was taken from the man and poured into a thermos flask. It was immediately rushed to Brisbane and the transfusion was successfully accomplished, states Austral News.

Aeroplanes are now in common use for less serious missions in Australia. Farmers on outback stations sometimes use them to take them to city race-meetings. Unable to buy gardenias in Sydney for his wedding, a young man ordered blooms by plane from Brisbane. Pots, dogs, cats, birds and even native "teddy" bears are often consigned by air. Owners of large outback grazing properties, sometimes thousands of square miles in extent often use aeroplanes for locating their cattle at mustering time.

CHINA AIR FORCE
PLANSTOKYO MILITARY STIRRED

Tokyo, Sept. 9. A Shanghai despatch to the effect that the Chinese National Government decided at the recent Kuling Conference to establish a big air force with the assistance of the United States created a sensation in many circles here.

The War Office spokesman today stated that Japan should watch the Chinese following this report although the War Office was still doubtful as to its truth. Under the present circumstances a Chinese air force is not to be feared, it was said. However, in case aviation instructors should come from the United States, it will be another story, he added.

A Navy Office spokesman expressed regret for both China and Japan regarding the report on the ground that China's establishment of an air force under the assistance of a foreign nation other than Japan will probably result in intervention by that country at a later date. The Japanese Navy to do is to watch the attitude of China, he stated.

H.K. LOSES ITS RESERVESINGS A PRELUDE TO "CAVALCADE"LAST NIGHT'S PREMIERE

Singing heartily, but with no less feeling, the songs which for four years helped hundreds of thousands of disillusioned soldiers to go through their nauseating duty with renewed cheerfulness and determination, and assailed a suffering nation at home to play nobly their part in the Great War, Hongkong last night provided its own prelude to the Premiere of "Cavalcade".

It was the original idea of the exhibitors for the band of the South Wales Borderers to entertain the huge audience with selections from "Cavalcade," but so carried away were the listeners, that, after the first two numbers, the band found themselves acting as accompanists. The majority of the stirring war songs were included in the programme, and they brought back a flood of memories, even to those whose recollections of the Great Event were confined to margarine queues, ration tickets, air raids and hospitals crowded with maimed soldiers.

NO FINAL DEMONSTRATION.

And so with the words of "Keep the Home Fires Burning," "There's a Long, Long Trail" and "Alexander's Rag Time Band," still lingering on their lips, the audience settled down to become engrossed in what is undeniably the most brilliant spectacle the screen has ever given.

There was no demonstration at the end. Everybody stood in silence when the National Anthem was played, then quietly dispersed, overawed by the beauty of the conception and the magnificent grandeur of the Cavalcade of three decades of English history.

The scene in front of the King's Theatre prior to the start of the show was something novel for Hongkong. Crowds lined the approaches in Queen's Road and watched the arrival of His Excellency the Governor (Sir William Peel), together with Lady Peel and the official party.

The guests were received by Sir Shouson Chow under a blaze of illuminations and before a battery of cameras, and upon the entry of His Excellency, the band of the South Wales Borderers, under Bandmaster L. Gecks, played the National Anthem.

Subsequently the official party were guests of the Hongkong Hotel, where, with a big crowd of revellers, they enjoyed a supper dance.—S. A. G.

"Cavalcade" will begin its local run on Wednesday, September 20, and a full critique of the picture by "Celluloid," the Telegraph film correspondent, will appear in next Tuesday's issue.)

ILLEGAL OPIUM & KEEPING DIVANTWO MEN CONVICTED AND FINED

For being in possession of six masses of opium, Fung Chau was fined $50 or three weeks by Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning. On another charge of keeping an opium divan at No. 119 Tung Choi Street, defendant was fined $75 or four weeks.

In connection with the same raid carried out by Revenue Officer Trengrove, Ho Chik-ting was charged as occupier of the ground floor of No. 119 Tung Choi Street, with allowing the premises to be used as an opium divan.

Defendant pleaded guilty and was fined $250 or three months.

DAY BY DAY NEWS IN BRIEF

TRUE CHARITY IS SPONTANEOUS AND FINDS ITS OWN OCCASION.—Hosca Ballou.

One case each of diphtheria, typhoid and meningitis were reported to the local health authorities on Tuesday.

Shortly before 4.30 this morning, a consignment of junk sank in the southern fairway of the harbour. The craft was sailing when it sprang a leak. The master and crew of four were rescued by No. 9 Police launch.

To-morrow (Friday) being the birthday of H. R. H. Umberto di Savoia, a gala ball to commemorate the occasion will be held at the Raffles Hotel. The Japanese Navy to do is to watch the attitude of China, he stated.

"SEND HIM TO PRISON"FATHER'S REQUEST TO MAGISTRATE

The father of a 20-years-old boy, Chan Ki-kwong, requested Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning to send his son to prison in order to reform the lad.

The boy was charged with stealing his father's silk dress valued at $8.20, this man stating that he suspected his son as soon as he discovered the loss. The boy was always asking for money and when refused, would threaten to hit his father.

His Worship:—What do you want me to do with him? Defendant's father:—Send him to prison. Let him learn a trade there.

Sentence of six weeks was passed.

POWER TO CURTAIL
EXPORTSDutch East Indies Ordinance

Amsterdam, Sept. 14.

The Dutch East Indies Council severely criticises the Ordinance empowering the Government to restrict the exports of any article, as rendering possible the introduction of restrictions on rubber exports without consultation with the People's Council.

A fear is generally felt in the European markets that the Ordinance is anticipatory, so that the Government will be in a position to impose restriction immediately an agreement is reached with Britain as regards the control of supplies.—Reuter.

UNEMPLOYMENT IN GERMANYINDICATIONS OF REVIVAL

There was a welcome decline in the number of unemployed in Germany during the second half of August, no less than 207,000 persons being absorbed into employment between August 15 and the end of the month.

In view of the improvement of the figures in England, where half a million unemployed have gone back to work since the beginning of the year, hopes are expressed that the world has turned the corner and that the worst of the slump is over.

Germany, however, has still a vast army of workless, there being 4,128,000 registered unemployed at the end of August.—Reuter.

COUNTERFEIT TEN CENT PIECESATTEMPT TO PASS ONE ON HAWKER

Convicted on two charges of uttering a counterfeit Hongkong ten cents piece and the possession of 24 counterfeit coins, Pun Leung, 30, unemployed was sent to prison for three weeks by Mr. Balfour in the Central Police Court this morning. Defendant stated he picked the coins up in Wanchai.

Cheung Ho, licenced female cigarette hawkker at Jubilee Street, stated that accused purchased a packet of cigarettes and tendered a bad ten cents. She handed it back to him, and as he walked away, a district watchman, who had overheard the conversation, arrested him. A search revealed 23 more coins.

DISARMAMENT
DOUBTSAN ANGLO-FRENCH CONFERENCE

London, Sept. 14.

The Prime Minister, who is at Scotland, is expected to return to London on Sunday evening.

On Monday morning he will be visited by Mr. Norman Davis, the United States delegate to the Disarmament Conference.

During his visit to London at the week-end he will also discuss certain questions connected with the work of the Disarmament Conference with Mr. Arthur Henderson, the President of the Conference.

Mr. Norman Davis will leave London for Paris next week and will probably participate in the later stages of the Anglo-French disarmament conversations there. The British Government will be represented at these conversations, which will begin on Monday, by the Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, Captain Anthony Eden, who, accompanied by Mr. Alexander Cadogan, Minister-Designate to China, is expected to leave London on Sunday.

UNDERSTANDING NEEDED.

The need for a clear understanding between the two countries on certain aspects of disarmament before the meetings are resumed at Geneva is fully recognised in London and it is anticipated that in next week's conversations the question of the international control of armaments will receive particular attention.

Full details of the French proposals for effecting such control are not yet known and the talks will to a large extent be exploratory.

At their conclusion, Captain Eden will probably return to London to report before proceeding to Geneva where the League Council will meet on September 22nd.—British Wireless.

FRENCH DEMAND
GUARANTEES

French manoeuvring in the disarmament question is watched here with some resentment. It is pointed out in political circles that while the French Premier, M. Daladier, in his last foreign-political speech in the Chamber immediately before the summer vacation, had defined the French security requirements as a demand for a strong and effective central control of armaments.

France, now that Great Britain and the United States have reportedly agreed to the principle of central control, suddenly feels the urgent need for some additional guarantee, demanding that the establishment of a control of armaments be preceded by some special arrangements.

A FRENCH VIEW.

The French journalist Jacques Bardoux, sponsor of the Association Française de la Sarre in his publication Le Capital takes issue with the Saar question. He maintains that the Austrian and the Saar problems are interrelated and that the independence of Austria as well as the continuation of the status quo of the Saar region, even if it should be accomplished contrary to the stipulations of the Treaty of Versailles, would mean peace, but the Anschluss of Austria and the return of the Saar Region to Germany could mean nothing but war.

BOY STEALS FROM PASSERS-BYTEN STROKES OF THE CANE ORDERED

The theft of one copper cent from the jacket pocket of a Chinese engineer near the Chinese recreation ground, Hollywood Road, led to the appearance of Chu Hung, 14, and Au Hoi, aged 24, before Mr. Balfour in the Central Police Court this morning. The boy was charged with stealing and Au Hoi with aiding and abetting.

It was alleged that Au Hoi shielded Chu Hung from passers-by while the theft was carried out. They had been in conversation together a short while previous to the incident.

After hearing the evidence of a district watchman, who effected the arrest, his Worship passed sentence of four months' hard labour on Au Hoi, and ordered the first defendant to receive ten strokes of the cane.

It was mentioned by Det-Sergt. Melloble that the boy had no relatives and had been in Hongkong for about five years. He had no fixed address and slept in the streets.

LONGEST TUBE
RAILWAYLONDON'S 25 MILE LINETHREE MILES IN FIVE MINUTES

London. The Piccadilly Line of the tube railway stretches from South Harrow to Cockfosters, now that the last section of its new extension is open. This is a distance of 25 miles, and makes it the longest underground railway in the world.

Work on the extension from Finsbury Park to Cockfosters—a rural "beauty spot" of former days—began three years ago. Some 3,000 men have been provided with employment, and the total cost has been some £5,000,000.

As each new station has been completed—all are of striking ultra-modern design—it has been immediately put into use. Altogether, it has been necessary to build four and a half miles of twin tunnels, not to mention viaducts, banks, cuttings and so on.

A speed of three miles in five minutes is now attained on some sections of the Piccadilly line. Cockfosters, by the way, had one claim to fame as a slender one—before it was brought into the public eye by the building of the tube.

The grandfather of Dick Turpin, the most famous of all the eighteenth century highwaymen, is said to have been the landlord of the "Rose and Crown," an inn not far from where the underground now runs.—Reuter.

REVISED TABLES

London, Sept. 13.
The Arsenal to-day suffered what can be regarded as at least a surprising defeat, when they journeyed to West Bromwich and were beaten by the only goal scored.

This is the London team's first defeat of the season in five games, and it came all the more a surprise in view of the Hawthorns' unimpressive record which up to the match was three points from four matches.

Albeit these points had been won on their own pastures, and it is quite evident that before their supporters West Bromwich are as dangerous as any team in the league.

LONDON'S BLACK DAY.

London, in fact, had a black day. Chelsea, even at Stamford Bridge, were not good enough to withstand Huddersfield and conceded their first home points of the season, whilst Crystal Palace, whose home record is now inferior to their away achievements, could only share the spoils with Luton.

Coventry City and Exeter performed the expected by winning easily on their own enclosures. In a programme of eight matches, results in the first division of the Scottish League were well nigh featureless.

Motherwell upset Hibernians' home figures by administering their first defeat, the Rangers won with customary ease, and the only result likely to cause an eyebrow to be raised was the failure of Kilmarnock to win at Dundee. They shared the points.

Results as supplied by Reuter, and revised league table records are given below.

Miss Round Wins Tennis Title

GOOD DISPLAY IN N.Y. TOURNAMENT

Miss D. E. Round was in good form at the Eastern grass court championship at Rye, New York, last month and won the title by a victory over Miss M. Healey 6-2 6-4.

Miss Round played steadily throughout the match. Miss Healey during the whole of the first set played without shoes, but owing to the damp ground she frequently slipped. In the second set she wore spiked shoes and did better, winning four games. Both players surprised the spectators by playing in shorts, similar to those worn by H. W. Austin and other men players.

Miss Round had lost a set to Miss Roberts (ranked 22nd in America) in the first round and had been extended by Miss F. James to 6-4 6-6 4-6 in the fourth. Miss J. Cruikshank, America's number five player, beat Miss J. C. Ridley in this round by 6-0 6-2. Miss Cruikshank gave Miss Round a close match in the semi-final running to 8-6 7-6 6-5. Miss Healey had previously overcome Miss T. Nibbel, Miss Duke and Miss Courvoisier (America's number fourteen) 6-2 6-1.

Miss F. James formed a successful partnership with Miss Healey and Miss Round 6-4 6-1.

A. A. Malcolm (Shanghai Bowls Club).
J. M. C. Lopes (Club Lusitano).
C. M. P. Remedios (Club Lusitano).

Mr. Tom Main is acting in the dual capacity of captain and team manager, and he is already well known in Hongkong. Other members of the team who have appeared in Interport bowls in the Colony before are A. A. Malcolm and C. Richards.

The team leaves Shanghai by the Empress of Japan on September 27, and is due in Hongkong on Friday September 29.

GOLF SURPRISE IN THE AMERICAN CHAMPIONSHIP

HOLDER BEATEN

Cincinnati, Sept. 13.
First round ties in the American open Amateur Golf Championship held a big surprise, when Goodman, the holder, was eliminated by H. Chandler Egan.

Egan won the title in 1904 and 1905, and to-day he beat Goodman two up over eighteen holes.

A REMARKABLE INCIDENT

Opponents Play With the Wrong Ball

London, Sept. 6.
Two international golfers, Abe Mitchell and A. J. Lacey, were concerned in a remarkable incident to-day in the qualifying competition for the £1,000 tournament at Pinner Hill. At the sixth hole, they discovered that both were playing with the wrong ball, which, according to the rules means disqualification. Both therefore had to retire from the competition.

HYPERION WINS.

Lord Derby's Entry Takes St. Leger.

London, Sept. 13.
Lord Derby's horse, Hyperion, won the St. Leger Stakes at Doncaster to-day.

Hyperion 1
Felicitation 2
Scarlet Tiger 3

The odds were: 6/4 Hyperion; 22/1 Felicitation; 100/8 Scarlet Tiger. Time: 3 min. 6 4/5 secs.

There were fourteen entries, and the winner was out ahead by three lengths at the finish, with Felicitation only a neck in front of Scarlet Tiger.

A crowd of 300,000 people, in glorious weather, saw one of Lord Derby's thoroughbreds win the race for the fifth time. Hyperion was ahead from start to finish and won easily.

The French challenger, Thor, although he looked well, finished last but one. King Salmon was fourth, Harinero fifth, Raymond sixth, and Light Sussex, last.

Weston rode Lord Derby's horse to-day, and repeated his victory in the Derby. Hyperion's success in that greatest of all English race classics made him a hot favourite for the St. Leger.

Felicitation, the Aga Khan's horse, was a surprise in second place, as few fancied the chances of this entry against King Salmon, who was second in the Derby.

Scarlet Tiger, the third horse, like Hyperion, was trained by the Hon. G. Lambton.

Prize Winners.

AMATEUR FOOTBALL BOMBSHELL

SUSPENSION OF 16 PLAYERS

PROFESSIONALISM REVEALED

London, Aug. 26.
Despite the fact that 12 officials and 16 players of the Slough F.C. were yesterday suspended by the Berks and Bucks F.A. following the findings of the commission set up to investigate the affairs of the club, it has been decided that the club shall carry on and they will participate in the Spartan League.

The findings of the Berks and Bucks F.A. Commission were announced as follows:

(1) An examination of the books of the club revealed grave irregularities, which were admitted by the officers and the committee of the club.

(2) These officers and members of the club are suspended sine die.

(3) The following players are suspended until further notice and are declared to be professionals: F. Blackall, A. H. Bowyer, R. Cunningham, J. J. Foster, G. J. Harman, G. Humphrey, R. Ivall, S. Marshall, A. H. Morgan, R. L. Payne, J. W. Routledge, F. Stringer, J. Ward, J. A. Ward, F. Woolford and S. J. Wooster.

(4) The books of the club are impounded and the club fined £20.

Seven of the men who have been declared professionals played last season for Berks and Bucks in county matches, and four for the Spartan League in representative games.

Morgan, centre-forward and inside-right, who was the principal goal-scorer in the Spartan League (Premier Division), scored 68 goals for Slough in all games. He had just signed for Uxbridge.

GRAVE INDICTMENT.
The declaration that 16 members of the Slough F.C. are professionals, together with the suspension of officials, has now been followed by an outspoken statement on the part of Mr. E. T. Bowyer, the president of the ill-fated club.

Alluding to the findings, he says it is well known in the football world that irregular payments are made by nearly all the senior amateur clubs. Each club, he continues, has difficulty in keeping its members from being "poached" by the offer of better terms. Then he adds:

"I only hope that this humbug and hypocrisy of sitting in judgment on one club may have the effect of calling attention to the present most unsatisfactory state of affairs, and that the F.A. will tighten up the status of an amateur."

ENGLISH RUGBY SENSATION

CAPPED MEN TURN "PRO"

Following hard upon the announcement of A. R. Ralph, the Welsh Rugby Union half, joining the Rugby League, comes the news that two English internationals, E. Richards and R. S. Roberts have also "gone over."

Richards recently resigned the captaincy of Plymouth Albion to which he had been re-elected. As a scrum half he has been of great service to his club and Devon County for several years, and in 1929 he was "capped" against Scotland and France.

Richards has signed on for London Highfield and will spend a week or so watching the Australian touring team at practice in order to familiarise himself with Rugby League methods.

Roberts is the Coventry forward who looked so well for the North Midlands against the Springboks two years ago that they considered him the best hooker they had played against. It was not until last season that England recognised his merits by picking him against Ireland.

He has joined Huddersfield, who secured him in the face of keen competition from Lancashire clubs. Roberts, who is not expected to play in Huddersfield's early matches, is 21 years old, stands 5ft. 8in. and weighs over 15 stone.

NEW LIGHT DISCOVERY BY SCIENTISTS

WAY TO BETTER ILLUMINATION

Cincinnati, Ohio.
A new kind of light, a rosy-
hued mercury vapour lamp, is announced by the University of Cincinnati.

In this lamp the sickly greenish
hue of mercury vapour is completely changed by the addition of
a pinch of potassium, the metal
which flames in water. All the intensity of mercury vapour light
is retained, says the announcement.
The discovery is classed as opening the way to more efficient illumination. It has developed in the Department of Physics by two young scientists, Dr. Isay Balinkin
and Dr. D. A. Wells.

The first appearance of the new light startled them. They were experimenting with a new, long-
life mercury vapour lamp produced
in their laboratory a year ago.
One of these lamps has burned
more than 10,000 hours.

The physicists added 2 per cent.
of potassium to the mercury and
switched on the current to see what would happen. The greenish light
of mercury vapour appeared, and
then quickly the glass seemed to get red hot. The current was hastily shut off.

Then it was discovered the glass
was not red hot, but merely had
been coated inside with a red glow,
which enveloped the green vapour.

THIS QUEER WORLD

CHILD AND THE TRAIN

A DREAM COMES TRUE

Here are some more of the
strange things that have been happening in the world. They are reported by Reuter correspondents:—

Roaring and thundering, a railway train rushed down the line in
the Lavant valley, Carinthia.
A child of two toddled across the rails.

Passengers looking from the windows gasped with horror as the heavy locomotive passed over the child's body.

The train halted with a jerk.
And the child crawled from
beneath it and said: "Cool!"

Another child, at Jassy, Rou-mania, dreamed one night that he had gone blind.

When morning came, he opened his eyes—and found that he could not see.

Now doctors are hoping to restore his sight.

Two farmers in the Swedish village of Vinberg report that they saw a sow force her way into a field through a fence and attack
some horses which were grazing
there.

Two of the horses were killed.
And the sow hardly injured.

Otto Sperr, another farmer,
lives at Eggendorf, in Austria.
He has been honoured by the local Agricultural Chamber for his services to farmers.

He collected and destroyed three-quarters of a ton of cockchafers!

A beggar-woman stole an alarm
clock from an inn in Budapest.
Nobody saw her place it in her bag.

She was about to leave the inn—
when the alarm went off.
Now she has gone to prison.

The Municipal Court of Chicago
has been called to determine whether 1,000 allegedly "spicy"
books may be kept by a landlord in lieu of rent.

BRITISH PAVILION AT LEVANT FAIR

Next Year's Event At "Wonder City"

Jerusalem.
The International Levant Fair to be held at Tel Aviv, the Jewish
"wonder city" on the shores of the Mediterranean next year, is being heralded as the biggest ever held in the Near East. The foundation stone of the fair will be laid in
the near future.

The first structure is to be the huge British pavilion, set aside for British firms who are going to exhibit.

The Levant Fair is considered
an excellent opportunity for the development of British export trade.

A new site, on a huge triangle
of land formed by the Yarkon
river and the sea, has been chosen
to accommodate the fair. It will cover 100,000 square yards of lands.

In 1932, the area was 60,000
square metres. The new site
adjoins the Maccabee Stadium,
where the Jewish Olympic games
were held in the spring of last year.—Reuter.

CORRESPONDENCE

GUIDES AND SCOUTS.

To The Editor,
Hongkong Telegraph.

Sir,—I suppose there are very few people in these days who will be found to deny the usefulness of the Girl Guide and Boy Scout Movements which have grown so remarkably during the last twenty-five years. There is, however, a tendency on the general public to take these Movements rather for granted and to forget that there is constantly a need for Guides and Scouters and also for financial support.

Here in Hongkong one has often heard the criticism made that not enough is seen of the work which the Guides and Scouts do and that therefore one cannot expect to receive the financial support which would probably be forthcoming if we had greater publicity. Our Movements do not go out of their way to court publicity, but great rallies and jamborees which are effective means of bringing the Movements before the public are difficult to arrange in a place like Hongkong. On Saturday evening, September 23rd there will be a chance for members of the Hongkong Public who are interested to see a little of what Guides and Scouts can do. A concert with demonstrations is being organised by the Guides and Scouts of St. Paul's Girls' and Boys' Colleges, and it will be held in St. Paul's Girls' College commencing at 7.30 p.m. The demonstrations will include Boxing, First Aid, Signalling, etc., and the concert items will be given by the Guides and Scouts themselves. In addition the following have very generously offered their help:—Mr. Ronald True and the "Cheero" Band, the Misses Stella and Helen Ho and Mr. E. F. Selk. A small proportion of the proceeds will be devoted to the equipment funds of the Company and Troop organising the Concert and with the balance, which it is to be hoped will be a considerable one, we intend to form the nucleus of two Endowment Funds from which grants may be paid to assist poor Guide Companies and Scout Troops. We hope that many will consider the cause a worthy one, and if it is impossible for some to attend the Concert we shall be very glad to receive donations towards the Endowment Funds.

Yours faithfully,
N. V. HALWARD,
Assistant Commissioner,
Boy Scouts Association.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

YESTERDAY'S MARKET STEADY

According to Messrs. Swan, Culbertson and Fritz, the New York market was steady yesterday. Business done 730,000 shares. The Wall Street Journal report on yesterday's market:

The market was steady and firm with weak U.S. Dollar offsetting adverse steel news especially "Iron Age Magazine's" report that the steel industry is operating at 41% of capacity. Yesterday's repeal victories apparently had no effect on the market. "Iron Age Magazine" cable Steel production is reported at 41% of capacity due to difficulties of code adjustment and also diminution of consumption. Buying from railroads remains low. Our New York Office cable (This morning). Stocks: Pending favourable news and developments dullness and irregularity are likely to continue but renewed upturn seems near. Wheat: The market advanced sharply on strong Eastern buying. Buying was started on the Government subsidizing Pacific Coast sales of wheat to the Orient. News favours constructive position. Cotton: The Government's weekly crop report is favourable with the exception of further mention of weevil activity. The market is steady at advance on continued activity of Worth Street in coarse yarn cloths and temporary lull in hedge selling. Our New York Office cable (Last Night). Stocks: The market is displaying a good tone but may develop temporary irregularity. Maintenance of long positions, however, is justified. Wheat: Cables strong falling to follow our decline. News bullish. The market declines. Trade buying and leadership. Stocks: Advise buying on declines. Cotton: As most bullish opinions predicted on inflation attention is concentrated upon Washington where apparently no action is contemplated pending the outcome of the National Recovery Act. The market was quiet and steady at the opening.

FUTURE OF THE HONGKONG-SHANGHAI AIR MAIL SERVICE

MR. BIXBY'S OPTIMISM

SPECIAL PLANES ON MANILA LINE

A PROPHECY

Shanghai, Sept. 10. Daily the great strides which various aviation companies in China have made toward unification of the country becomes more evident. From a recent and modest beginning, air lines in China have grown to an extent where it was confidently predicted by Mr. H. M. Bixby, vice-president of Pacific-American Airways, yesterday, that "within the year or slightly more, commercial airways in the Far East will compare favourably with those found in the more advanced centres."

A report which is the result of an intensive survey, and sometimes spectacular flights, over country little known is nearing completion and will be forwarded to New York with the recommendation that the Hongkong-Manila schedule be opened as soon as equipment can be built and transported for the purpose. The Shanghai-Hongkong-Canton schedule only awaits the adjustment of minor details before ships will leave Lungkwa twice weekly for the southern cities. It is believed that only a very short time will elapse before a visitor from Hongkong can enable his wife that he "will be home for tea" this afternoon. By means of the fast schedule, business executives will be able to conduct personally, business between cities with speed and convenience.

PUBLIC AND PERFORMANCE.

Despite the fact that air lines in this country have no competition, as in Europe and America, from fast trans-continental trains and motor buses, officials of the C.N.A.C. and P.A. Airways do not expect a rush of passengers immediately their southern schedules are opened. Regardless of the delay of time, regardless of the delay of time, regardless of the delay of time, it requires time and much efficient performance to convince the travelling public in any country.

Air transportation, unlike cigarettes or tooth paste cannot be sold by advertising billboards. It is largely a matter of one man telling another and publicity which calls attention to the planes which arrive and depart on their regular, routine schedules. It is still true, unfortunately, that the few crashes which occur constitute news in bold headlines while the everyday, uneventful flights are seldom told.

Despite this great handicap, air transportation has fought a battle that has been distinctly successful. The business of the Pan-American Airways, owners of P. A. Airlines here and of 45 per cent. of the stock in C.N.A.C., has increased beyond their wildest hopes while other forms of transportation have been hard hit by the long business depression. And in China, the flights by the C.N.A.C. planes have become an established institution upon which the public depends for safe, enjoyable travel.

LAST WORD IN EQUIPMENT.

While the two, the Sikorsky amphibians recently purchased by C.N.A.C. only await the starter's flag to begin regular flying to Hongkong and Canton, Pacific-American is expecting to use even more elaborate equipment for the Hongkong-Manila hop. The planes which probably will be used are of the "Clipper" flying-boat type, designed by Pan-American men after three years and more experience in flying the long water jump from Kingston, Jamaica, to Barranquilla, Colombia—a hop far longer than from Hongkong to Manila and because of treacherous winds over the Caribbean Sea, infinitely more troublesome.

The "Clippers" for the Manila hop will be speedier and more luxurious than any type yet seen in the Far East. Capable of carrying 16 passengers and much mail, the sound-proof cabins and interior arrangement will be the last word in comfort. The ordinary cruising speed will be well over 125 miles per hour while the wireless installation of the ship will keep the pilot in constant touch with both points.

At the beginning, one service weekly will be flown, but the Company is prepared to handle any amount of business—on the South American run they are now using 50 passenger planes to handle the demand. Even then many are unable to get seats without reserving them some time in advance.

Always officials are fully cognizant of the advantages which they possess—they realize, too, an unique opportunity to be of service to a country which has suffered so long from lack of satisfactory

ROUND TABLE KNIGHTS

AUSTRALIAN ORDER OF CHIVALRY

An organisation, based on the constitution and tradition of King Arthur's court, is now flourishing in Australia. It observes the ritual based on the legends of the Knights of the Round Table, says Austral News.

Founded at Hurstville, New South Wales, in 1914, the order has spread all over the Commonwealth and now numbers 10,000 knights and 450 courts. It is an organisation of Methodist youths for whom the idealism of Arthurian stories has been interpreted, through their ritual, into modern ideals of chivalry. Each court has its Sir Knight Commander, its Bishop (a minister of the circuit), Knight Chancellor, Knight Seneschal, and so on. A cloth shield, varied for the different orders, is worn by each member. Each court sits at a round table at which one seat is left vacant, as at Arthur's Table, for the coming of Sir Galahad, the perfect knight.

PO PIU LOTTERY TICKETS

WOMAN CONVICTED OF CHARGE

As a result of a raid carried out on the second floor of No. 200, Queen's Road, West, Li Mei, a married woman, appeared before Mr. Schofield, at the Central Magistracy this morning, charged with possession of 62 Po Piu lottery tickets.

Sub-Inspector Fender said that some tickets were found in a drawer, and it appeared as if somebody had been writing them. The defendant admitted the tickets were hers.

Mr. Schofield imposed a fine of $50.

Leung Yju, an unemployed, arrested in Queen's Road, West, for possession of 101 Po Piu tickets was fined $75 or six weeks hard labour.

Inspector Hourihan said that the tickets were found concealed in defendant's stockings.

FRANCE'S DEBT PAYMENTS

BRITAIN'S LEAD TO BE FOLLOWED

London, Sept. 8. New negotiations between France and the United States of America concerning the war debts question will soon be taken up again, according to the Paris correspondent of the Daily Telegraph who adds that the French attitude on the whole has remained unchanged and that the utmost extent to which France could go would be to pay a sum amounting to ten per cent. of the debt falling due on December 15, thus following the example set by Great Britain in June last.

It will be recalled that France failed to pay the last two debt instalments amounting to $20 and $40 millions, respectively.

PERSIAN DOCTOR GAOLED

FOR COMMENT ON GERMANS

Berlin, Sept. 8. Because he grossly abused the hospitality extended to him for over twenty years, the Persian physician, Dr. Prassinikian was sentenced to-day to two years' imprisonment. He had declared in public that he considered the German people "the most stupid on earth." He had also spread the most terrible atrocity stories concerning the German Government.

transportation inland and along the coast where fast service is necessary. The work which has been done, and is continuing daily, is only the beginning toward accomplishment of a vast scheme to unify China and to lay the ground work for eventual trans-Pacific service.

PIECE GOODS JUDGMENT

ATTACHMENT COMPENSATION

A judgment of great importance to local piece goods merchants was delivered by the Chief Justice, Mr. J. R. Wood, at the Supreme Court this morning in a claim by David Sassoon and Co., Ltd., against a Chinese firm for breach of contracts.

Yan On Firm, of 29, Jervois Street, were the defendants and they were sued for $1,910.76 in respect of the difference between the contract price and the amount obtained at the auction of the goods this year.

Mr. H. G. Sheldon and Mr. Leo D'Almada jun., instructed by Messrs. Deacons Ltd., appeared for claimants, and Mr. D. McNeill, instructed by Messrs. Wilkinson and Grist, represented the defendants.

Giving judgment His Lordship said:—

INFERIORITY NOT PROVED.

"This dispute arises out of five contracts for the sale of goods. The plaintiffs are the sellers and the defendant firm are the buyers under these contracts. Among the defences to the claim are allegations of late shipment and of omission to give proper notices of arrival. I do not find these allegations established by the evidence.

"A further defence alleges that the goods tendered under the contract were inferior in quality to the samples upon which the contracts were based. This defence applies to four only, out of the five, contracts. In my opinion this defence, in the circumstances disclosed by the evidence, is not available to the defendants to justify either a repudiation of the contracts or a rejection of the goods tendered. By a clause of the contract 'any dispute regarding quality'—not settled amicably shall be referred to arbitrators to be appointed by the Hongkong General Chamber of Commerce...."

"A further defence advanced has been that each contract was for the sale of more than one case of goods and that the present claim is in respect of one case only under each contract, and, therefore, that the claim falls because the contract does not require the buyers to take delivery by instalments. This defence also fails by reason of the fact that the form of the contract clearly contemplates a delivery of single cases thereunder.

GUILD NEGOTIATIONS.

"In the course of the discussion which arose between the parties upon these contracts it appears that the Chinese Piece Goods Guild conducted certain negotiations with the plaintiffs in respect of the consignments under these and other contracts. As I understand these proceedings, the Guild acted as negotiators merely and without power to compromise any dispute which had arisen.

"Moreover, the evidence has shown that the Guild at no time acted upon the instructions of the defendant firm. Certain arrangements were proposed which received the approval of the plaintiffs and of the Chinese Piece Goods Guild. Some dealers adopted the arrangements made. The defendants did not do so. They are here sued upon their original contract. The claim has been framed with deductions made voluntarily by the plaintiffs which are parallel to those accepted in connection with other contracts for similar goods by other dealers.

"I find that the defendants are liable in damages to the plaintiffs for failure to take delivery of the goods in question.

QUESTION OF DAMAGES.

"It remains to decide the correct measure of damages. It was submitted for the defendants that they had repudiated these contracts on different dates and that the calculation of damages upon the differences between the contract prices and the prices obtained on January 18, 1933, at the auction sale conducted upon the instructions of the plaintiffs, was irregular.

"On this submission damages can only be assessed by ascertaining the market price of each case of goods on the date when the contract was repudiated. In this connection I find that the plaintiffs have selected the proper date for the breach of contract under contracts Nos. 7905, 889 and 890, and

"With reference, however, to contracts Nos. 809 and 886, I find that the breach of contract by the defendants occurred on November 3, 1931, on which date they wrote a formal letter declaring these contracts to be 'null and void.' The proper amount of damages under these two last contracts (in the absence of agreement between the parties) must be referred to the Registrar for inquiry and report.

"I give judgment accordingly for the plaintiffs with the general costs of the action, and direct that a formal judgment be filed embodying the amounts of damages mentioned above under contracts Nos. 809 and 886, whether agreed by the parties or assessed by the Registrar.

BITTERED RELATIONS.

"Owing to the fact that the relations between these parties had become somewhat embittered since the issue of this writ, the Court has been asked to consider evidence relating to the conduct of the parties at different stages of the events leading to this action.

"It has not been necessary to give decisions on many questions of fact raised. But I would like to say that where there has been a conflict of evidence I have, in general, given credit to the story told on behalf of the plaintiffs. It seems to me that perhaps issues might have been clearer, and time might have been saved, if the original Statement of Claim had been drawn by the learned Counsel who represented the plaintiffs at the trial.

"I have now to deal with an application made on behalf of the defendants for compensation, under section 677 of the Code of Civil Procedure, in respect of an interim attachment of the defendants' property. This application was made at an early stage in the action and was repeated at the opening of the trial. The writ in the action was issued on January 21, 1933, which date was four days in advance of the Chinese New Year Day under the old calendar.

"Simultaneously with the issue of the writ an application was filed on behalf of the plaintiffs, made under section 672 of the Code of Civil Procedure and supported by the affidavits of the Comptroller and of the Assistant Comptroller employed by the plaintiff Company, for an order for the attachment of six cases of goods on the defendants' premises in the event of the defendants failing to find security. January 21 was a Saturday. The application was made to Sir Joseph Kemp, the former Chief Justice, who granted the application, but, at the same time, directed that the attachment of the goods should not be effected before the following Monday, January 23. The bailiff of the Court executed the order during the forenoon of Monday. The bailiff seized not merely the six cases of goods named in the order but also a quantity of office furniture.

JAPAN'S TRADE BALANCE

Air Conquest Of Future

OVERCOMING BAD CONDITIONS

Post's Vision

New York. Wiley Post, the hero of two flights around the northern hemisphere, is full of plans for further air conquest.

"I have so great a desire to have some money to spend in the further development of aviation that I'd do almost anything to get money," he remarked when asked about his plans. He hinted that his dreams were rather definite, but he preferred to keep their nature a secret.

Post talked with simple enthusiasm about the future of aviation. He said he considered the day not far off when year-round flying would be possible over the trail across North America, Europe and Asia, the Atlantic and the Pacific, much of which can be flown nowadays only in comparatively good weather conditions.

WORST ENEMY.

In two years, Post believes, the airman will have conquered his worst enemy, fog, through perfection of radio to permit blind landings anywhere, any time. The other great hazard in flying around the hemisphere as he did—the formation of ice on the wings—is already being fought off with rubber shoes on the wings and other devices. He believes that man will "have the ice whipped" in a few years and that then it will be possible to fly the North Atlantic every day.

Transoceanic distances and the longer stretches overland eventually will be flown "up high where the air is thin," Post believes.

When "stratosphere" was mentioned, he replied, "I don't use that word." But "up where the air is thin" speeds of 300 to 700 miles an hour will be possible for commercial planes equipped with sealed cabins and superchargers to supply oxygen for the passengers as it is supplied for engines, to-day, he believes. Such flights, Post predicted, "probably will start within a year," the planes whizzing along seven miles and more above the earth.

"The development of aviation is just started," he said. "Just about everything remains yet to be done."—Reuter.

SEPTEMBER FIGURES

Tokyo, Sept. 9. Japan's foreign trade through her 13 principal ports during the first nine days of September resulted in a favourable trade balance of Yen 10,811,000 reducing the total import excess over exports since January 1 this year to Yen 105,681,000, according to a bulletin issued by the Finance Office to-day.

During the first ten days of September, Japan exported goods to the value of Yen 67,323,000 and imported goods amounting to Yen 46,512,000.

For the first time on record, the trade of Japanese colonies other than the Kwantung Leased Territory showed a favourable trade balance during August, the Ministry of Overseas Affairs announced to-day.

The exports during August totalled Yen 7,012,000 and the imports were Yen 7,549,000 resulting in an export excess over imports to the amount of Yen 537,000.

This was due to the excellent trade between Manchukuo and Korea, the Overseas Ministry announced.

NORTHERN FINANCE.

CENTRAL GOVERNMENT TO AID ADMINISTRATION

Shanghai, Sept. 13. Dr. H. H. Kung had a meeting this morning with General Huang Fu, when the financial situation in North China was discussed.

It is understood that a definite arrangement was made that in future all revenue in North China will be handed over to the Central Government. If the local revenue in the North is insufficient to meet expenses, the Government should give financial assistance.

The matter is now under careful consideration by the Ministry of Finance.

GIANT AEROPLANE

SOVIET'S NEW SKY WONDER

COMPLETE WITH CINEMA

Moscow. A "City of the Sky" is nearing completion in the Soviet Union.

It is a giant aeroplane, claimed to be the largest of its kind in the world. Experimental flights are to begin early next year.

This aeroplane is designed to carry 70 passengers and a crew of six. It will carry so much apparatus to make it self-contained that it will be almost like being in a city.

There will be: A cinema, A printing office, A powerful short-wave wireless "station," and Apparatus for "aerial bill-posting"—projecting advertisements on the clouds.

The machine is a monoplane with a wing-span of more than 180 feet. It will have eight engines, three on each wing and two on the top of the centre section.

The general capacity of the engines—about 4,000 h.p.—makes it possible to fly at a speed of about 160 m.p.h. The monoplane is built of duraluminium.

It is intended that the new machine shall serve as a flag-ship of the squadron named after Maxim Gorky.—Reuter.

DETAILED DESCRIPTION OF ENTERPRISE

A business event of considerable importance will take place on Saturday, September 16, when the China Emporium, latest addition to the Colony's big business enterprises, will be opened to the public.

The mat screens, which for many months have partially concealed building activity, have been removed to reveal something architecturally distinct from other buildings in Queen's Road Central. In Chinese style, six storeys high, crowned by a pagoda shaped tower of three tiers, the new building combines the utilitarian with the artistic. Its mass, with the front elevation painted a buff colour relieved with vermilion, rising high above the older buildings which surround it, easily dominates this portion of the business centre.

The building, from every point of view, represents the last word in modern practical achievement. The general features are such as to be expected in a modern departmental store, but a detailed description may not be amiss. Many of the innovations are a tribute to the versatility of the group of Chinese business men headed by the Hon. Sir Shouson Chow and Mr. Chan Hary, Chairman of Directors, and General Manager respectively.

The Roof Garden.

To describe these features in detail it is more effective to depart from the usual custom and after the fashion of Chinese character writing, take the roof garden first and thence to the lower storeys. The whole area is laid out as a Chinese ten-garden, with a platform for Chinese singers and instrumentalists, and a tower in the form of a three tiered pagoda crowning the front elevation of the building and overlooking the main entrance to the building from Queen's Road. In the tower will be installed a powerful radio set with two loudspeakers. Radios will also be installed on every floor of the building, including the department where they will be of particular utility—the Cafe de luxe and dance floor on the fourth floor.

The fifth floor will be given over entirely to the business of a Chinese restaurant. This restaurant has finely paneled rooms and is furnished entirely with blackwood furniture imported from Canton at a cost of between $70,000 and $80,000.

Oil-fired ranges, refrigerators and meat strongrooms are other features of the catering business, which should be more than ordinarily popular by reason of the hygienic benefits conferred by these up to the minute improvements. A bar is also installed on this floor.

The fourth floor is entirely devoted to the business of a European cafe, of which the most remarkable features are a dance floor and distinctive decorations. The most ornate colours with gold and silver, that predominating have Chinese motif of the interior. A bandstand of a unique design occupying the head of the room, flanked by two pillars, will be the main feature of the floor.

NEW SIKH TEMPLE.

TO BE TWICE AS LARGE AS OLD ONE

With the rapid growth of the Sikh community in Hongkong, it has been felt for some time that the Sikh Temple situated in Gap Road, is not big enough to cope with the large number of worshippers who throng to the temple every week. In order to provide ample accommodation, the Committee of the Khalsa Diwan have decided to demolish the present temple and to erect a larger one.

Work of demolition has already begun, and the new temple will be ready in about six months' time, this being the period agreed to by Messrs. On Lee, the contractors. The new temple will be twice the size of the old one.

The old temple was built in 1902 by contributions and subscriptions from members of the local Sikh community. Their object was to provide facilities for public worship by adherents of the Sikh faith and at the same time to provide guest accommodation for needy visitors passing through the Colony. Since 1902 the temple buildings have been considerably enlarged and improved. In 1909 a northern wing was added, comprising eight rooms, to provide accommodation for family visitors on the ground floor, with quarters for the priest and a library on the floor above.

In 1917, a crematorium was also erected in a garden lot at the back of the main building and in 1918 new kitchens and bath-rooms had to be added to meet the increasing demand as well as for the comfort of transient visitors.

CAPTIVES' TALE

NANCHANG OFFICERS BOUND TO SILENCE

Shanghai, Sept. 13. Thin and brown, and still nervous from the ordeal of their long captivity, Clifford Johnson, chief officer, W. E. Hargrave, second officer, and A. D. Blue, second engineer of the s.s. Nanchang, which was pirated last March, arrived in Shanghai to-day.

When the ship from the North docked early in the evening, they were warmly greeted by friends and officials of Butterfield and Swire, Ltd., by which company they are employed.

But the former captives of the Chinese pirate band steadfastly refuse to be interviewed. It is understood that they are bound to silence, having sold their story exclusively to The Daily Mail for $1,000 each.

They will probably stay in Shanghai a few days, after which they are expected to sail for England, though their leaves are not yet due.—Reuter.

VISCOUNT BARRINGTON AT AGE OF 85

London, Sept. 13. The death is announced of Viscount Barrington at the advanced age of 85.—Our Own Correspondent.

Walter Bulkeley Barrington, ninth Viscount Barrington, was born on April 2, 1848, and succeeded to the title in 1901. He married his first wife, Mary Isabella Bogue, in 1870. She died in 1903, and two years later he married Charlotte Mary Birch, the widow of Arden Birch. He had three sons and a daughter. The heir to the title is Hon. W. R. S. Barrington.

tile effect and the red lacquer and gold of its general decoration. A waiting room and small private rooms open from two sides of the floor, and a bar and soda fountain will make the European catering business self-centred.

Hygienic Kitchens.

Hygienic kitchens, reinforced by ice-making machinery, refrigerators, and meat strongrooms will add considerably to the attractiveness of this city rendezvous. It is proposed to hold dinner dances nightly. Lighting effects are of a novel character, and include, for the first time in the Colony, Neon light tubes for the dance floor.

The four lower floors, including the mezzanine contain the general business of the Emporium. An idea of the extent of its business, which necessarily must embrace all lines of general domestic utility, can be gained by the fact that nearly 300 show cases have to be arranged. The general business offices of the concern are located on the third floor, and on the mezzanine floor there are to be a four, equipped with a magnificent service, a ladies' beauty parlour and a gentlemen's hairdressing saloon.

WORLD CRISIS A WAY OUT

By FREDERICK COPE, A.M.I.E.E.

Mr. Cope's striking articles on the world economic crisis which were recently published in the Hongkong Telegraph are now available in pamphlet form.

One of the features, repaying study, is the close similarity between the plan of reform suggested by this local writer, and certain aspects of the Roosevelt recovery programme. The author's ideas are naturally far too advanced for active promotion at the present time, but they are particularly interesting in view of the fact that President Roosevelt, in striking out on a path of his own, has travelled in the same direction.

The pamphlet is one of forty-four pages and can be obtained from the South China Morning Post at a cost of—

The wonders of transportation invention are shown from the early ex-car to the modern motor car and airplane and railroad trains. Amusing are the contraptions that were the pride and joy of our forefathers who indulged in speed.

Old Heidelberg—with its drinking songs and students will delight the hearts of Hongkong German citizen and all others. Real American Indians in full war paint and feathers dance for you. Midget village with its tiny folk and real human giants will delight the children. And for the children there is shown the marvellous Enchanted Island, with its Magic Mountain and thousand and one oddities. Historic Dearborn—the original Chicago in the year 1800 is shown in exact replica and size, even to the furniture used in the log homes of those days. And climaxing the film is the wonderful and spectacular night display of flood lighting on the beautiful building and a gorgeous fireworks that turn night into day and the Fair into a fairyland a mystery.

Buster Crabbe is in the movies because he is an athlete with personality. If he had been an athlete without a personality or a personality without athletic ability, things would have been different.

Crabbe, world-champion swimmer, was chosen from among dozens of athletes considered to play the role of the "Lion Man" in "King of the Jungle," animal thrill-romance which opens to-morrow at the Queen's Theatre.

The competition through which Crabbe won himself the role was set under way as the result of the dilemma in which the Paramount Studios, producers of the film, found themselves, after it was decided to produce "King of the Jungle." It was discovered that there was no male player in Hollywood to fit the role of the studio's taste. So the Lion Man Contest was undertaken.

Those of us who sigh for the delights of a country life, would do well to partake (via the screen) of something of those imagined joys as they reach the unaccustomed ears of the town-dweller. The scene is the Red Barn, in which is set the country-drama that goes to the making of "The Man from Toronto," showing today at the King's Theatre.

The sun had just risen, and a tired colonial visitor, anxious to snatch another forty winks, is awakened from his beauty sleep by the crowing of a rooster. He tries to sleep again. Ducks are squawking noisily in the farmyard, pigs are grunting, dogs barking, cows lowing. In fact, the entire farmyard seems to have entered into a conspiracy to keep the poor Canadian from slumber. It is all very well done, so natural, so convincing, that one is led to imagine that the furred and feathered denizens of the farm are on the film company's payroll. They are all so unselfconscious as to provide a striking object lesson to many an aspiring film player.

Jessie Matthews is the star of "The Man from Toronto," which Sinclair Hill directed for Gainsborough, and which is adapted from the rollicking stage-play by Douglas Murray. Jessie Matthews' part in the picture affords yet further proof of the charm and amazing ability of this star of revue. She has an opportunity in this picture of displaying not only her undoubted abilities as an actress but she dances delightfully. Those who know her work, assert that "The Man from Toronto" provides her with her finest screen opportunity yet.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney

There are times on the defence when it is necessary for you to get rid of certain high cards—in other words, cash them and get them out of your hands so that the declarer cannot throw you in the lead at his convenience in order to force you to make a detrimental play. The following hand, played in the woman's contract pair championships at Asbury Park, is an example.

▲10-8-4-3-2	▲7
♥10-7-4	♥9-2
♦Q-6	♦J-10
♠A-K-7	♠7-5-4
▲Q-J-5	▲9-8-3
♥Q-5	♥A-K-9-6
♦K-8-3-2	♦A-8-6-3
♠J-10-6-4	♠A-9
	♠Q-5-2

The Bidding

South, the declarer, opened the contract with one spade. North went to three spades and South bid three no trump. North went to four spades.

The Play

The opening lead was the four of clubs which declarer won in dummy with the king. Two rounds of spades were taken. East showing out, which left West with the good queen.

The declarer could see that she had a losing spade, two losing hearts and a possible losing diamond. If she could set the fourth heart she could get rid of the losing diamond—or if West held the king of diamonds and could be forced to lead away from it, her contract could be made.

However, the declarer first tried for the heart break and led her ace of hearts. A small heart was then played and West waded in with the queen. This play practically assured the declarer that the heart suit would not break.

The West player was in the lead. If she had now failed to cash her queen of spades and had led a club, the declarer would win in dummy with the ace, return a small club, win with the queen and then lead a small spade, throwing West in the lead with the queen. Her situation would then be hopeless.

If she leads a diamond, the declarer will win both the ace and queen, while if she leads a club the declarer will trump in dummy and discard a losing diamond. Now all she must do is to lose a heart trick and her contract of four odd is made.

EINSTEIN'S WARNING AGAINST HITLER

Says Germany Publicly Preparing for War

Russels, Sept. 9.
Professor Albert Einstein, perhaps even better known to-day for his opposition to Hitlerism than he has ever been for his achievements in the pure sciences, created a veritable furore to-day with an open warning to the Latin countries of Europe against Hitlerite Germany.

M. Alfred Manon, a well-known Belgian anti-militarist, wrote Prof. Einstein, who is now living on the Belgian coast, seeking his intervention on behalf of two young recruits who had refused to accept military service on grounds of "conscientious objection."

The savant's reply represents an almost complete turnaround on his previous general anti-war attitude. He declared, in part, that "there exists in Central Europe to-day a Germany which is preparing war publicly and by every means possible. In these circumstances, the Latin countries face great danger and they cannot count on merely defensive preparations."

Following up his point, the mathematician, liberal and late pacifist paints a sombre vision of the prospects, picturing a new occupation of Belgium by Germany which will "be worse than that of 1914." This occupation, it is added, will become a sad reality if the youth of Belgium refuses, under present conditions, to take up military service.—Maras.

INQUIRY

Capetown, Sept. 14.
Vice-Admiral E.R.G.R. Evans has arrived in the heart of the Bamaingwato Reserve in Bechuanaland, with his escort of Marines, and has set up a Court of Inquiry into recent events at Palapye Roads, near the railway.

The European who was flogged was a man named Macintosh, who was living within the native reserve.

Tshekedi, the chief of the Bamaingwato Tribe is alleged to have been mainly responsible for the flogging, which was ordered by a native court.

ALLEGATIONS BY CHIEF

Allegations and representations by Tshekedi as regards Macintosh's character were ignored by the Court set up by Admiral Evans, but after hearing the evidence of Macintosh, it was intimated that he would be prohibited from living in the native reserve.

In the meantime, Tshekedi has been temporarily suspended from the chieftainship of the Bamaingwato and is virtually under open arrest.

DUTIES

The Hague, Sept. 13.
New import duties of five per cent. on manufactured goods and twelve per cent. upon luxury articles, have been authorised by the Lower House, together with a further turnover tax on the manufacture category of goods and ten per cent. on the second category.

It is estimated that the new taxes will yield about 85,000,000 guilders annually.

Raw materials and some food-stuffs are not affected by the new taxes.

It will be recalled that Holland recently announced its denunciation of the tariff truce, in consequence of the failure of the World Economic Conference to achieve useful results.

Holland has hitherto been noted for one of the lowest tariff walls in Europe, with the result that surpluses have tended to gravitate in her direction.—Reuter.
